

SHOOTING IN LAWRENCE

Grand Welcome to Cardinal

IN HIS HOME CITY

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

Cardinal O'Connell Honored by All
Classes—His Notable Address

THE POPULAR OVATION TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL YESTERDAY, NOT ONLY AT THE TWO CHURCHES VISITED BUT ALONG THE STREETS THROUGH WHICH HE PASSED, WAS ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE EVER SEEN HERE. IT WAS A WORTHY TRIBUTE TO A PRINCE OF THE CHURCH AND A SON OF LOWELL WHO BY BRILLIANT TALENTS AND MANY QUALITIES OF GREATNESS AS A DIVINE HAS BROUGHT FAME TO HIS NATIVE CITY.

"Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home."

In the hearts of the people of Lowell, regardless of what their religious tendencies may be, the sentiment of the old, old song was never felt more forcibly than when William Cardinal O'Connell, an honored prince of the Catholic church, standing under the canopy of the throne that betokened His Eminence over all others, present, with voice despite his strong mentality and physique, trembled with emotion, spoke these words to the assembled multitude:

"Whatever of honor or glory or wealth man wins afterwards, he is ever mindful of his first home—the home consecrated eternally by the lullaby of his mother's voice, the gay shouts of careless youth, the happy faces of boyhood friends, now lost to him forever in all but the echo which memory sounds in his ears whenever he revisits the precincts of his birthplace. I stand here a Cardinal, a Prince of a great Empire, but to you, to Lowell and all here, I am and ever shall be a Lowell boy, proud of my birthplace; and may the blessed spirit of industry, of frugality, of happy labor, of cheerful work which were the first and best and most useful lessons I have ever learned here, abide forever within Lowell's gates, to lead on many another of her younger sons to honor and renown."

LICENSE BOARD

Decides to Increase the License Fees

Beginning May 1, 1912, the liquor license granted to a brewery located within the confines of the city of Lowell will be increased $500 over the present fee. Clubs will have to pay $100 more and the fourth class dealers will also have to pay an additional $100. This was the revision of the prices as reached by the members of the license commission this morning. Several sessions have been held by the board but it was not until this morning that the matter was made public.

ONE MAN WOUNDED

Shots Were Exchanged by the Strike
Sympathizers and Police

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

Riot broke out again today.

Strike sympathizers opened fire on Metropolitan park police and the latter responded with their guns. One strike sympathizer was wounded.

Many arrests were made during the forenoon. Attempt "to lie up the town" was a failure.

MORE RIOTING

BROKE OUT IN DOWN RIVER
CITY TODAY

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—Stormy scenes marked the beginning of the seventh working week of the Lawrence textile workers strike today. In an early morning affair preceding an extended demonstration nearly a dozen shots were fired from tenement houses upon a squad of Metropolitan park police and the officers returned the fire. Two strike sympathizers were arrested as a result of the shooting, one of them being taken to the hospital with a bullet wound in his back. More than 20 arrests were made in the early hours of the day for intimidations and disturbances.

State of Disorder

Essex street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, was in a state of disorder for half an hour while several thousand women and men strikers and their friends paraded along the picketing line, booing the police and militia, singing the revolutionary song "L'Internationale" and creating a general disturbance. They crowded about the railroad station as a demonstration against the action of the police Saturday in preventing the departure of a number of children for Philadelphia. No more children were sent out of town today. Turning back from the depot, the crowd became so noisy that a hurry call was sent for assistance to the police on duty. The augmented force of officers amid such vocal disturbance in which epithets were injected into the boing then began to arrest members of the mob. They picked out of the crowd nearly a dozen men who they claim were either disturbers this morning or figured in previous outbreaks. They were bundled into automobiles that were kept running to and fro between the police station and the scenes of the arrests. One or two of the men objected to arrest but in only one case was it necessary for an officer to use his club on the objector's head. Women were forced to move on frequently at the point of a nightstick or other club but no woman was arrested in this demonstration which was not ended until the officers had cleared the crowd off Essex street and out to the common. Half a mile from the railroad station, "the mob" then was forced to scatter through the common, and quiet once more prevailed.

Town Not Tied Up

Today's demonstration was intended to operate in connection with the riot issued Saturday night for a general strike of all workers in Lawrence to "tie up the town." But the town was not tied up. There was no response to the appeal and the mills retained their operating strength. The women and men on picket duty were unusually active prior to the time of opening this morning and between a dozen and fifteen strike pickets were taken into custody for intimidation or violence. Many were women, who seemed to court arrest but the police avoided arresting them whenever possible.

Miraculous Escape

That none of the Metropolitan police officers who were stationed at the corner of Common and Newbury street was not shot when fired upon early this morning, was considered miraculous. Two volleys of about nine shots were peppered at them from behind windows in nearby tenements. None was hit and the officers then returned the fire. When they attempted to arrest two men they were met point blank by three more shots which did not take effect. The two arrests were then made and it was found that Carmelo Meleg, one of the men, was shot in the right shoulder blade. His condition is not serious. Salvatore Bruno, upon whom a revolver was found, was charged with assault with intent to kill, the most serious charge yet made against anyone connected with the strikers except the murder complicity charges against J. J. Eitor, the erstwhile strike leader, and his lieutenant, Giovanni.

ANOTHER CRUSADE

IS PLANNED BY THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—Enraged first in Oak street, where four arrests were made, and later in front of police headquarters, where a riot of more than two thousand hissing, booing, missile hurling textile strikers, waged a battle with police and cavalry yesterday in which a score or so on both sides were more or less seriously cut and bruised.

This was the most serious disorder of the day, a minor riot on Broadway being quelled by police reserves, with the use of clubs and a show of revolvers.

Everywhere the strikers were in evidence. Last night they were on the streets in such numbers that the law-abiding citizens of the city feared to venture on the streets. At the armory a troop of cavalry was held in readiness for an emergency call.

"Every man, woman and child of you get out on the streets and do picket duty tomorrow morning," was the injunction given at every meeting of the textile workers held under the auspices of the Industrial Workers of the World yesterday.

The demand that every worker in the city quit today and join in a sympathetic strike, was also made.

Eight companies of militia are still bivouacked in the armory.

The strike swung into the seventh week of its existence yesterday. So far it has cost about $2,000,000, and the end is not yet in sight.

Plan Another Crusade
The Industrial Workers of the World had meetings for practically every nationality among the strikers, at which virulent attacks upon the police, the city authorities and the militia were made by the speakers. It was after such meetings, in both instances that disorder occurred.

The leaders said yesterday that no other attempt would be made to ship children away on Tuesday. Col. E. Leroy Sweetser, Acting Marshal Sullivan, Mayor Scanlon and Director of the Public Safety Lynch, all said last night that if an attempt was made to send the children away, it would mean the repetition of yesterday's action.

Seven children are still held at the city almshouse. There were sixteen there originally, but nine of them were surrendered to their parents on their promise to keep them at home.

In some instances, the police claim, the parents said the children were taken from them under misrepresentation.

This the strike leaders deny. It is also charged that some of the children who were shipped from here in the first place, were not members of striking families, but were brought here from outside and then sent back to their homes in New York, simply to make a showing. This is borne out by the school records, it is claimed.

DEPUTY CHIEF NORTON

Well Known Fireman Passed Away

After Brief Illness

James T. Norton, deputy chief of the Lowell fire department, passed away yesterday afternoon after a brief illness of great assistance. He was of great assistance in the routine work of the department and the two enjoyed each other's confidence as probably no other official and his assistant do. He was born in Roxbury, Jan. 28, 1859. He joined the Lowell fire department as fireman in 1885 and was made foreman of Excelsior hand engine in 1892. He was transferred to the hose company in 1899 and was made foreman in 1903. In 1908 he was appointed assistant engineer and was made deputy fire chief in 1909.

THE LATE DEPUTY CHIEF JAMES T. NORTON.

Gilbert fire when he was struck by a portion of a falling wall and his left leg was crushed and he was otherwise hurt. He was confined to St. John's hospital for several months at this time and later was obliged to remain at home for several months more. He had to submit to three operations before he was able to leave his home and at times his life was despaired of. He was universally liked and every man in the fire department regarded him as the "fireman's friend." He was a member of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, Court, Middlesex, 12, of the Lowell Veterans firemen and was treasurer of the firemen's relief fund. He was a devout member of St. Peter's church.

The funeral will take place from his home, 22 Ames street, at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. Solemn high mass at St. Peter's church at 9:30 o'clock. Lowell Council, K. of C., will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight to take action on his death.

FUNERALS

CHALMERS—The funeral of Mrs. Sophia Chalmers took place yesterday at 3 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas G. Lyons, 70 Highland avenue, Rev. A. B. Dill officiating. The body was sent to the former home in Alden, Me., to lie in state at 8 o'clock train. C. M. Young in charge.

BATTERSBY—The funeral of William Battersby took place yesterday from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Battersby, in North Portland. Services were held at the grave in Lowell Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Green officiating, C. M. Young in charge.

GRiffin—The body of Mrs. Hannah Griffin, who died in Nashua, N. H., Feb. 25, at the age of 72 years, arrived in Lowell Saturday afternoon and was placed in the receiving tomb at the

GAMBLERS WERE FINED

Two Different Parties Were Raided by the Police

Gambling is becoming so prevalent in Lowell and so many complaints have been made relative to young men losing their pay at Saturday night and Sunday sessions that the police have decided to put a stop to the practice. It is a well known fact that there are a number of places where young men and older men congregate and play cards or shoot craps. The stake in some of the games is rather low, but the more experienced players have a systematic system and it is very difficult to catch a person playing the game, but there are many places where the men are lax in their methods and the police have been successful in gathering a number of the violators of the law in the district.

Early Sunday morning the police made two successful raids, one at the "Thorndike Social Club" at 29 Thorndike street, where 15 men were gathered in and another at 28 Decatur avenue, where seven were arrested. Some were charged with gaming and the others were present at a game on the Lord's day.

As a result of the two raids the police court room was packed almost to suffocation this morning for besides the large number of defendants in attendance there were present many of their friends who were anxious to learn the outcome of the cases before the court proceedings appeared in print.

A squad of officers composed of Lieut. Freeman, Sergt. Ryan, Inspectors Fox and Cogger of the liquor squad and Patrolmen Winters and J. H. Clark, visited the quarters of the Thorndike Social club at 29 Thorndike street early Sunday morning. A game of cards was going on at one table while other young men were lounging around the place waiting for the alleged big game which was to have started later on. A glance at the gathering convinced the police that the law was being violated and the following were placed under arrest: Arthur James and Albert Ladour, charged with gaming on the Lord's day; Harry Melancon, Bernard Portell, John Granger, Thomas A. McCarthy, Fred Griffin, Edward T. Carville, Edward Powers, Russell Crockett, Eric Boynton, John W. Williams, James J. Cavanaugh, Hugh J. Beck and William Melancon, were charged with being present.

When arraigned in police court this morning a general plea of not guilty was made by Daniel J. Donahue, counsel for the defendants.

Gibson, Inspector Frank Fox and Patrolman Cassette and Bagley, went to 28 Decatur avenue about one o'clock yesterday morning and with the aid of a key entered a cottage and arrested seven men, five of whom were charged with gaming on the Lord's day and the other two with being present at a game. The men gave their names as follows: Peter Watson, Daniel Collins, Wm. Sullivan, Edw. Rowe and Wilfred Coutu who were charged with gaming and those who were charged with being present were James J. Stock and Thomas J. Jones.

In court this morning all entered pleas of guilty and those charged with gaming were each ordered to pay a fine of $12, while those who were present were fined $5 each. The fines in this case were much larger than in the other case because money and dice were found at the Decatur avenue house.

Case Continued

Fine of $15 Imposed
Thornville Boliver was charged with drunkenness and the larceny of $7 in money from Philip L. Heroux of Cambridge, according to the testimony offered the two men were out sporting Saturday night and yesterday morning when they were in a house in Cheever street they were in need of an eye opener and went to a local hotel where they imbibed more freely than wisely. Later they returned to the room in Cheever street and while L. Heroux was lying on a bed, Boliver, it is alleged, stole the money. Boliver, however, denied that he took the money.

Inspector McCaughy testified to arresting the defendant and although Boliver said he had but $1.20, the officer found $4.15 which was not accounted for.

The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15.

Obstructing the Street
Matthew F. Shea, a young man, pleaded guilty to obstructing the sidewalk at the corner of Lawrence and Church streets on Saturday night. Patrolman Elmon Land testified that he had seen Shea and others to move on but Shea refused to do so and he placed the young man under arrest. Inasmuch as Shea works in the vicinity and as he had never appeared in court before, the judge placed him on probation.

Drunken Offenders
John Gill, Joseph Montague, John O'Donnell, Hugh Harrod and James Hannon, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $5. There was one first offender who was fined $2 and several simple drunks who were taken to a house in

The world has witnessed the brilliancy, the piety, the charity, the diplomacy, the wonderful scholarship and the many other personal attributes of Cardinal O'Connell, but Lowell alone was privileged to witness the great human side of this great Prince in Israel, who, upon the earliest occasion offered to go away from Boston, arose with the sun yesterday morning and proceeded over the road to Lowell, making his first stop, not at the gaily decorated parochial residence where within and without loving friends awaited him with acclaim, but at the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street where kneeling, uncovered, in the winter winds, by the grave of his dear mother, his final love went forth to heaven in a fervent prayer for her eternal happiness. He was again the boy giving back to heaven the supplications learned by him, these many years ago from the pious lips of her whose dust rested beneath the clay at his feet. From the cemetery, he was not yet ready to receive the plaudits of the faithful throng but proceeded down Gorham street to the unpretentious from his limousine at the rectory cheer after cheer rent the air. The crowd drowned out the "Home Sweet Home" of the hand but restrained itself, while the children assembled on the court house steps sang their songs of welcome. His Eminence deeply touched at this further expression of welcome turned as he mounted the steps and gave his blessing. When within the house he soon appeared at the window and was accorded another great ovation. With moistened eyes he once more gave his blessing and later appeared at another window and repeated the benediction. So dense was the throng in front of St. Peter's that it was with difficulty that the cars, crept through. Supt. Redmond Welch in personal charge of a large corps of officers maintained perfect order then and throughout the day.

In the afternoon when His Eminence proceeded to St. Patrick's church fully 35,000 people lined the sidewalks and cheered him to the echo. Cardinal O'Connell was in evidence everywhere, while thousands waved tiny American flags. The approaches to St. Patrick's church were choked with people. The school children of St. Patrick's school and Notre Dame academy, appropriately attired and the Knights of Columbus in displayed a generous array of similar colors. On the avenues through which the cardinal and his party passed, beautiful decorations were arranged. The Holy Name society was in charge of President John R. Higgins, the children were directed by the Sisters of St. Mary and general order was under the supervision of Lieut. Martin Connors and Sgt. Hugh Maguire.

Upon the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell, His Eminence was met at his automobile by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., Rev. James T. McDonnell, O. M. I., and Dr. James B. O'Connor. The cardinal was attired in his robes of office.

While the procession passed up the avenues all waved their flags. The cardinal in recognition bowed on both sides, saluting the vast assemblage.

He was escorted by Very Rev. Dr. Smith as his chaplain, with Mr. Spillane, Rev. Wood and Mr. McDonnell, Mr. Dooley and Dr. O'Connor in the order named. At the rectory the cardinal knelt on the prie-dieu and the other members knelt on either side.

All the others present also knelt and answered the cardinal in the prayers for the repose of the souls of his

the front room he knelt in prayer for a few minutes and then placed a large wreath of laurel. The scene was very striking and as the band again played "Home Sweet Home," tears were seen in the cardinal's eyes. The cardinal returned to his limousine and the procession proceeded to St. Peter's church. All along the line, multitudes assembled and waved small American flags as the cardinal passed.

At St. Peter's

Upon the arrival of the procession at St. Peter's church several hundred children of the parish were standing on the court house steps and they sang with deep devotion "Holy God We Praise Thee Now." The children also carried flags and continually waved them. They were trained for this purpose by Prof. F. O. Blunt. The party arrived at St. Peter's at 10:25 o'clock and here again the fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus formed a guard of honor through which the cardinal and his suite passed, during which the band again played. When the cardinal reached the entrance of the parochial residence he turned to the assemblage and administered his blessing. He then went into the house and there held a brief reception for the fourth degree Knights of Columbus. There also he met his nephew, Richard O'Connell and wife, together with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horne. Mr. Horne is a warm friend of the cardinal since boyhood.

During the time that the cardinal was in the parochial residence the crowd grew larger and the sight was impressive. The cardinal was so impressed that he appeared in an upper window and bestowed his blessing. Here the children as well as the others assembled responded by waving their flags and giving a cheer. During the interval the band played "Adeste Fideles" and "Holy God."

Entering the Church

The door of the parochial residence then opened and the cardinal and his attendants stood for a few minutes. From the door of the parochial residence to the entrance of the church the guard of honor was composed of the members of the Knights of Columbus.

The band then struck up "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the procession to the church started at just 11 o'clock. The cardinal was attired in robes of the sacred office and wore a red biretta. Rev. Dr. Keleher led the procession and immediately following was His Eminence, his train being borne by an altar boy attired in a red cassock and white surplice. Next was Mr. J. Spillane, D. D. and Mr. William J. Dooley, the cardinal's gentleman of honor. When upon the top step of the church the cardinal turned and bestowed his blessing and then proceeded into the church, where he was met by the officers of the mass, celebrant, Rev. Daniel J. McEneaney, deacon, Rev. W. George Mullin and subdeacon, Rev. Bro. James J. McMartin, O. M. I. of the Tewksbury novitiate. The procession was started through the main aisle and the sanctuary choir under the direction of Rev. John Burns sang beautifully "Te Deum Laudamus," by Tertius. The church was illuminated with many incandescents, which with the elaborate decorations, presented a sight of rare beauty.

The musical program was particularly well given, the "Jubilat" composed by Cardinal O'Connell, being well rendered by Lawrence Delaney. The latter sang with excellent expression and made a deep impression upon the cardinal. The program was published in Saturday's paper.

The solo parts in the church choir were sustained by Miss Gertrude Keleher, soprano, and Mr. James E. Donnelly, baritone. Mrs. J. W. McKenney was the organist and director. The sacristan, John J. Keleher, was under the direction of Rev. John F. Burns.

The address to His Eminence by Rev. Dr. Keleher, was touching in the cordiality and affectionate terms of its greeting.

Dr. Keleher said:

My Lord Cardinal: The months just passed have been notable even in your remarkable career. In the Eternal City you have been crowned with honor and personal affection by Our Holy Father, the Vicar of Christ; you have been received with open arms into the most august and venerable body in the world, the senate of God's church, the College of Cardinals. You have been honored by all the friends of religion.

Since your return home, the clergy and people of your diocese have given memorable proofs of the joy they feel at your elevation.

We may speak only for St. Peter's parish in the name of the old home parish I bid you a most hearty welcome, and I thank you for the distinction which you confer upon us by your presence today.

Many proofs have been given of your great ability; that you are possessed of the mind to conceive and the will to execute; that you are endowed with great gifts of leadership. But your visit to old St. Peter's gives proof, if proof were needed, that you are also endowed with those tender emotions that do honor to the human heart.

The voices of the past have bid you hither. The hallowed memories of childhood and youth have not been dimmed by the splendid honors that have crowned your career.

The act of filial piety which you have performed this morning at the tomb of her who led towards you the most sacred relations on earth, shows that you, like all great and good men, can never forget the love and reverence due to a good mother. God bless you for this example to our youth. For this, like all your actions and utterances, is an inspiration to them to direct their lives according to high and noble ideals.

When we think of the years that have passed and the years that are to come, many are the thoughts that rush to our lips for utterance. But we know that you will understand them all when we say that we love you; that

EVER-HEAL

As necessary in the home as a mother's milk, Ever-Heal is a wonderful ointment I have found in Ever-Heal. It is a relief to every sore, laceration and burn. I have used it and received little benefit. I was discouraged and ready to give up when a friend advised me to try Ever-Heal. I received instant relief. I feel that I am a better man for having used it. It seemed like a god-sent to me, as it cured my itching, inflamed skin, also cracked hands. You can't tell me the name and refer all skin sufferers to me.

Ever-Heal is antiseptic, healing and soothing for every skin trouble. A trial will tell for ever. Postage, etc., or send us 50c with this ad, and we will send you regular size box of Ever-Heal, together with full size cake of soap, for the price of 50c. A dollar's worth for 50c. Sent in plain package. Address EVER-HEAL, L.B.O., Woburn, Mass. Save this ad.

colosseum wherein he first saw the light of day. His once more gave striking evidence of the beautiful sentiment that welled up in his great heart by placing within the portals of the little cottage a wreath of laurel. From his birthplace His Eminence repaired to St. Peter's rectory, where the opening features of a reception that will never be forgotten by those who participated in it nor by the recipient himself took place.

Much of the reception was a genuine surprise to Cardinal O'Connell particularly at the cemetery, and he was deeply touched by the demonstration there. Arriving unusually early he had expected to walk alone through the avenues of the cemetery to the family lot, offer his tribute of love and depart, regally lined the church yard and held back hundreds that had gotten beyond the guard of police in the streets. Through excellent work on behalf of a large corps of ushers headed by John J. Sullivan, assisted by the police, the church was not overcrowded and hundreds were deeply disappointed at their inability to gain entrance.

Crowds equally as large and as enthusiastic greeted His Eminence as he took his departure through the streets of the city and until the city's limits had long been passed he was obliged to continuously acknowledge their salutations. Before leaving Lowell Cardinal O'Connell highly complimented all in charge on the perfect parents and all the faithful departed. The cardinal then arose and placed a large wreath of laurel upon the centre of the grave. Another prayer was then said, after which the cardinal turned and administered his blessing to those assembled.

After this ceremony the cardinal, Mr. Spillane and Mr. Dooley left in the limousine and proceeded down Gorham street.

At Davis square the cardinal was met by the fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus and the Lowell Military band. The Knights were in charge of Dr. Thomas F. Carroll, as marshal. They were attired in frock coats, wore tall hats carried swords, with beautiful sashes of white but upon arriving he found thousands of arrangements that had been carried out.

At the Cemetery

The first place visited by His Eminence in Lowell was the grave of his parents in St. Patrick's cemetery. The cardinal arrived at the cemetery at 9:45 o'clock in his large limousine. He was accompanied by Right Rev. Mr. M. J. Spillane, D. D. and Mr. William J. Dooley, the cardinal's gentleman of honor.

Long before the arrival of the distinguished visitor the cemetery was crowded with people. The members of the Sacred Heart Holy Name society formed a guard of honor along the avenues through which the cardinal passed. The children of the school also assembled along the paths of their society, cardinal badges and carried American flags. In the rear of the guard were members of the parish and many others.

The decorations at the cemetery were elaborate. The gate at the entrance was decked with the cardinal, papal and national colors. The chapel also and red, with state colored ties and gloves.

The Procession

The procession started with the band leading and the Knights on either side of the cardinal's auto, acting as escorts. "The band played 'The Stars and Stripes Forever' and the procession passed to the birthplace of Cardinal O'Connell at 126 Gorham street. The latter was beautifully decorated with cardinal and national colors. The cardinal's coat of arms occupied a conspicuous position near the point of the roof. Upon this was the inscription "For in Arduis."

Upon the arrival of the cardinal here the members of the fourth degree Knights of Columbus assembled on either side of the street and the entrance to the front door of the house. There was a vast multitude assembled and as the cardinal passed through the line of the guard all waved their American flags. The cardinal left his limousine alone and proceeded through the lines while the band most appropriately played "Home Sweet Home." The cardinal entered the house and in

THE KITSON TEAM

Won Honors in Machine Shop League

The Machine Shop bowling league schedule was completed last week and the standing shows that the Kitson team won the honors of first place. The team was pushed to its utmost and the place was not determined until the last game was rolled. By taking four points from the Foundry quintet in the final game the club to first place were decided in favor of the Kitsons.

In all the league was a huge success and will undoubtedly be resumed next season. The contests for all the positions were warmly contested and some of the best bowling games of the year were rolled. The results show that many of the bowlers who heretofore were not heard of piled up some great scores.

The list of prize winners was as follows:

Individual average:
First—Laugelin, Kitson, 91.23.
Second—Whitaker, Kitson, 85.59.
Third—Chase, D. Room, 85.59.
Three string total:
First, Welcome, Yard, 298.
Second, Baker, Office, 296.
Third, Conley, Kitson, 292.
Single string total:
First, Sharpe, Yard, 114.
Second, Marshall, Yard, 113.
Third, Harrall, Kitson, 112.
Pinfall:

Kitson	Opponents	Score
Kitson	Yard	18,506
Yard	Office	18,726
Office	Kitson	18,753
Kitson	Machine Shop	18,901
Machine Shop	Foundry	18,901
Foundry	Kitson	18,901

The standing of the league at the finish and the individual averages of the members of the different teams are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	P.C.
Kitson	40	20	66.7
Yard	37	23	61.7
Drafting Room	37	23	61.7
Machine Shop	23	35	41.7

POOL TOURNAMENT

THE CONTEST FOR HONORS IS GROWING CLOSER

The contest for honors in the City pool tournament is getting closer every week, and the manner in which the large number of spectators turns out at all the contests indicates that there is great interest in the result. This week W. Smith is in the lead and he is followed by C. Pierce, Jack Carnegie, holds third place, and the other men are closely bunched. The standing:

BASEBALL NOTES

The New Orleans baseball club played two games at Colon Friday with the Panama team. Panama won the morning game by a score of 3 to 1, while New Orleans took the afternoon game, 3 to 1.

President Ward sent word to all the players under contract and reservation to the Boston club, directing them to report at Augusta, Ga., on March 6, ready to take up vigorous training. He expects to leave for Augusta in a few days and have everything ready for business when the boys arrive.

President Ward managed to locate Vincent Campbell, who was on his way from Pittsburgh to St. Louis, his home, and feels certain that he will have no trouble getting Campbell into line.

President Ward has received several letters from Pittsburgh and the West, congratulating him on securing Campbell. The Pittsburgh fans consider Campbell the greatest ball player, who simply could not pull with Pres. Barney Dreyfus.

Leach Cross, Phil Cross and Monte Cross are all fighters. Each is a sort of a cross between a champion and a dub.—Cincinnati Tribune.

"Gavvy" Cravath, the Minneapolis slinger, who is to play with the Phillies the coming season, is expected to fill out the Phillies' outfield and contribute a few home runs for Dooin.

Cy Morgan of the Athletics has a record at last. He was derelict 12 times last season, which was the highest in the league, but Jim Seck of the White Sox was close behind him, with a mark of 10 hits.

The schedule committee of the N. E. league of which John J. O'Donnell of the Worcester club is a member, is at work on the schedule and has already made up the first month of playing. The committee expects to finish the work soon.

It was announced at the American league headquarters yesterday that Alva M. Williams, a Red Sox catcher, had been sold outright to the Washington club.

Joe Tinker, the Cubs' shortstop, who returned to Chicago last night, announced that he might be seen at third base the coming season. Tinker said he had found a recruit for the shortstop position in one Orr, and that he believes the lineup of the infield will be changed.

Larry Lajoie thinks Barney Dreyfus was very wise to pay a big sum for Marty O'Toole. If I were a club owner and were offered a star player like Marty O'Toole I would pay $50,000 to get him if necessary and would consider it a bargain," says the Cleveland Star slinger.

Two catchers in each of the major leagues worked in more than 100 contests last season. Manager of Detroit caught 141 games. Myers of the Giants 135, Thomas of Philadelphia 102 and Archer of the Cubs 102.

Larry Lajoie is lamenting that fate made him a ball player. He might have earned a million dollars driving a cab in Woonsocket, R. I., if a cruel fate had not insisted that he become one of the greatest ball players of all time.

The ease with which good ball players are allowed to slip from the majors when so much money is spent annually looking for talent is one of the chief regrets of every president and manager.

Manager McGraw of the Glens has the right idea. Johnny will pick out three likely-looking recruits from this year's batch of new talent and carry them through the season, and when they make good or not. After "riding the bench" for a season McGraw figures an ordinary youngster will become an extraordinary one.

There is a slight possibility of "Bugs" Rayner being given one more chance by McGraw. The leader of the Glens will leave it all with the third champion of the big league. A New York specialist has written a proposition to the manager of the Glens agreeing to take the erratic spitball leader at his own expense and risk of his reputation. "Bugs" in condition throughout the season he wishes the New York club to foot the bill. McGraw has written Rayner that he is willing to gamble that far.

Says the Worcester Telegram: "The early opening of the championship season Patriots' day is already regretted by some of the clubs of the New England league. They're sorry they ever consented to open the championship season so early. Steve Flanagan of Brockton was one of the strongest advocates for the early opening and carried his point. Since the league decided that way Flanagan has changed his plans with regard to the Brockton club. Now some of the others are beginning to think that they can't any longer open the season as early as the middle of April, especially if the weather is cold, which it is likely to be. But their regrets will probably cause no change in the plans.

Wishing to have some fun with an old friend, Joseph W. Burns of Tannan, part owner of the Brockton New England league team, sent a contract to Dr. Fred J. Ripley, health officer of the board of health of Brockton, stipulating Dr. Ripley's salary as $1500. Dr. Ripley, who is a doctor, says he is not of the city officials' choice; salary was not increased, the sum stipulated by Burns being what Dr. Ripley wanted. So far Dr. Ripley has not accepted the terms, but John W. McCue, who owns the other half of the team, is wondering what will happen if the physician should sign the contract. Dr. Ripley says he would not consider it a bargain," says the Cleveland Star slinger.

Manager Bresnahan of the Cardinals has announced that he will introduce Young Walsh, batsman, to the club. Walsh is a first-class pitcher and two first-class pitchers to assist Harman, Geyer and Sallee.

Hank O'Day, the Reds' manager, holds a firm opinion about kicking. He says there is nothing in it. "I know what umpiring means," says O'Day, "and I know what kicking is. I am strict on this point when an umpire, and I haven't changed my views."

Secretary John A. Heydler, of the National League, proposes to visit the city of St. Louis in the near future. The secretary has not taken a vacation for a couple of years, but in the interim has become a devotee of the game of golf. A few weeks at his favorite pastime form the object of his visit to Dixie.

Manager Frank of New Orleans, says he can't understand George Jackson's success with Boston, as he did not impress as a slugger in the Southern league.

Manager O'Day of the Reds, will have to drop eight of the 14 pitchers the Cincinnati club has signed. O'Day declares that five or six good boxmen are enough for any major league team. "Too many pitchers have wrecked some first class clubs," says the veterans ex-umpire, "and I don't intend to be handicapped that way when the Reds start the season." O'Day doesn't stand alone in this opinion.

During the league meeting in New York last week Second Baseman Miller, of the Pittsburgh team, handed President Dreyfus his signed 1912 contract. Miller states that he is serious about receiving a trial at first base, as he is confident that he can make good in the position.

Charley Herzog, the Giants' third baseman, after a talk with Secretary O'Brien and Manager McGraw, signed a three-years' contract.

The Cincinnati club has purchased for a try-out infielder McDonald and catcher Murphy from the Dallas club, of the Texas league.

President Dreyfus, of Pittsburgh, announced last week that Scott Billy Murray will go to West Baden and Hot Springs with the pirates next month. His duty will not be to assist the manager, but to get a line upon the youngsters.

Willie Keeler will be taken south by Manager Dahlen of the Superbas, to teach youngsters the finer points of the game.

The St. Louis National club has received the signed contract of Outfielder Ten Million, late of the Northwestern league.

PEOPLE'S CLUB FREE COURSE

The annual course of free lectures by the People's club, which was opened this season by Mr. Arthur K. Peck of Boston, will be continued Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock by Mrs. Peck. She will describe Holland, a picturesque country not too well known, and show many fine stereoscopic views. This lecture is free to all, and a general invitation is extended. The hall is in Ruess's building, Merrimack square, and the elevator will run.

JIMMY GARDNER

Elected Pres. of Lowell Athletic Club

At last week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club, Jimmy Gardner, one of the cleverest men that the ring has known, was unanimously elected president of the organization. The choice of Mr. Gardner is a very good one and the announcement will undoubtedly be well received by the followers of the game in this city. He will immediately take office and transact the business of the club. Billy Gardner, brother of Jimmy and also one of the best men of his class when at the game was re-elected matchmaker. The latter has arranged a great program for the first meeting of the organization under the new regime. In the main bout Young Boyle of this city, the lightweight champion of Lowell, will meet Young Jasper of Boston. This is a great card and one that all the members of the club will take great pleasure in seeing. These two men have met on several occasions and have always given very clever exhibitions. In the last meeting of the pair, Jasper slipped over a haymaker that put the Lowell man away. Until the final blow, though the bout was evenly matched and Boyle is confident that with the experience he received in that bout he will be able to beat the clever Boston boy. The latter is also confident of winning, but avers that he will not take any chances as he realizes that in Boyle he has a tough man. The final final this week will introduce Young Walsh, batsman, weight champion of the city and Spider Murphy of Boston. The ability of the former is well known to the members of the club and the latter, according to the reports received is one of the fastest boys in the state at his weight, and this number ought to be a beauty. Another banner attraction will be the bout between Young Gardner, Brooks of Lowell and Joe Sears of Lawrence. Brooks is coming along in great style and the bout this week will certainly give him a good test. Sears will be remembered as the boy who clashed with Young Walsh at the club a few weeks ago and went the full distance but lost the decision. Though defeated he put up a great exhibition and showed that he was a willing boxer. And there is still another. The fourth will show Young Tommy Doyle and Young Hamilton of Lowell, two very capable exponents of the milks. They are scheduled to entertain for six rounds. The meeting will be held on Friday night in Mathew hall and Billy Gardner will officiate as referee. The first bout will start at 8.15 o'clock.

THE BARACA LEAGUE

Interesting Games Played Saturday

The bowling alleys of the city were quite busy Saturday evening and many good games were rolled. In the Baraca league series the First Baptist team took the four points from the First Congregational church team.

In a game on the Crescent alleys the Silesia Worsted mills team and a team from the American Hilde and Leather company met and the former won by taking all the points. A team from the Appleton Cloth room and a picked quintet rolled on the Crescent alleys and each team took two points. In the Bout mill series the Office team took all the points from the Overseers. Kirby of the Office quintet was high man with a total of 302. The scores: First Baptist—Woodman, 246; Jaycock, 218; Johnson, 279; Chapman, 254; Bowen, 233; total, 1267.

First Congregational—Dubois, 266; J. Stephens, 239; W. Houston, 263; J. Houston, 261; Chapin, 272; total, 1311.

Silesia Worsted Mills—McManey, 254; Horle, 253; Gracia, 293; Alzel, 272; Pope, 262; total, 1318.

Hilde & Leather Co.—Beal, 269; Breault, 230; Lelendres, 213; Ross, 255; Longley, 267; total, 1235.

Picked Team—Mavden, 278; Carroll, 290; Guiney, 267; Fralick, 139; Coulombe, 231; total, 1265.

Cloth Room—Demers, 245; Rodersen, 256; Dunning, 261; Corea, 259; Carey, 262; total, 1277.

Office—Hunt, 238; Holt, 167; Holt, 271; Kirby, 309; Abbott, 250; total, 1215.

Overseers—McAlister, 248; Nelson, 260; Ferguson, 263; Myhrburg, 235; Lelper, 270; total, 1194.

Ex-Gov. Fort of New Jersey was delighted with Col. Roosevelt's statement, saying: "It was all that Mr. Roosevelt's friends expected of him. His friends in New Jersey are out for him and intend to stay for him until the convention is held, win or lose."

Ex-Senator Cooley said that Mr. Roosevelt's statement would be pleasing to the Roosevelt supporters in New Jersey. Some of the New Jersey supporters of Col. Roosevelt have already filed a petition with the secretary of state that Col. Roosevelt's name be placed on the ballot.

GAINING STRENGTH

Mayor Gaynor is at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 26.—Mayor William J. Gaynor is gaining strength by a brief stay here. He spends much time on the board walk in the open air. He expects to return to New York Sunday or Monday. This picture was made as he was enjoying a stroll.

LOWELL CONSERVATORY

An interesting feature at the Lowell Conservatory is the children's recital held on the birthday anniversaries of the pupils. Fourteen candles were lighted on the birthday cake in honor of Miss Agnes Pollard, Saturday afternoon, and the following children gave the recital: Syrian Melody, Grace Sullivan; waltz, Margaret Carmody; Hunting Song, (Schumann) Ella Larkin; schottische, (Adams) Grace Rowan; "Swinging in the Garden," (A. H. Daugherty) Eulalia Lynch; (a) Marche Militaire, (Blake) (b) Grand Parade, (Kullak) Agnes Pollard.

"COMEDY OF ERRORS"

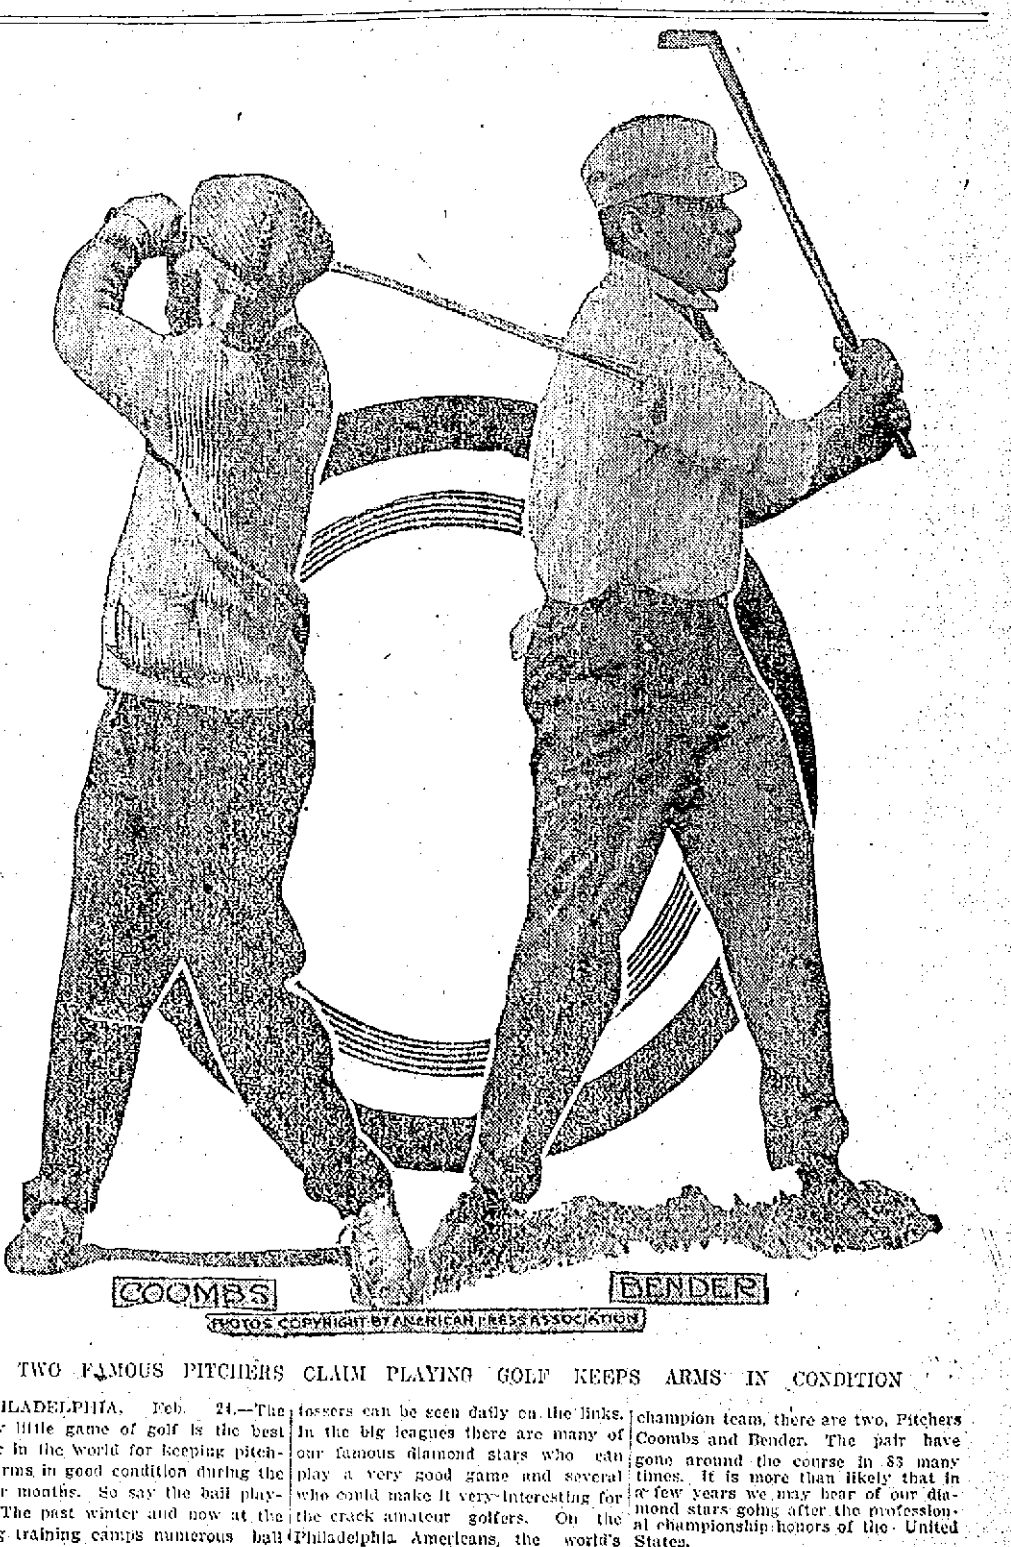

The closing recital of the series of three by Mr. Marshall Durrah, takes place Tuesday evening next, February 27. The play to be given is "Comedy of Errors." This season's course has been very popular, and the closing recital should bring out all lovers of Shakespeare who have or who have not attended the first two. The comedy is one of the most enjoyable of the lighter plays, for it is full and brimming over with those witty tricks of language that make the great writer's humor fairly scintillate. Don't miss hearing Mr. Durrah's talented impersonation of the Two Dromios and their associates.

RIVAL EXPEDITIONS ARE EXPECTED TO REPORT THE DISCOVERY OF THE SOUTH POLE ANY DAY

LONDON, Feb. 26.—News of the discovery of the South pole is expected to reach London at any moment, and already the newspapers are beginning to discuss the chances of two rival expeditions. The great international polar race between Captain Robert E. Scott, R. N., at the head of a British expedition, and Captain Roald Amundsen, who leads a party of Norwegians. In a sense, the result of Peary's great exploit, just at the time that the American was capturing the North pole, is a hundred miles or so of the South pole. England was aroused by the achievements of both pioneers and made up its mind that if the stars and stripes flew at the farthest north the union jack should wave from the farthest south. So a fund was raised in London, and Captain Scott was sent on his way. Meanwhile Captain Roald Amundsen, who had gained Arctic honors of the first rank by discovering the northwest passage, to accomplish which Sir John Franklin lost his life, had been getting out in Norway an expedition with the avowed intention of reaching the Reining straits by Cape Horn and then drifting across the

TWO FAMOUS PITCHERS CLAIM PLAYING GOLF KEEPS ARMS IN CONDITION

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 24.—The merry little game of golf is the best music in the world for keeping pitchers' arms in good condition during the winter months. So say the ball players. The past winter and now at the spring training camps numerous ball players have been seen daily on the links. In the big leagues there are many of our famous diamond stars who can play a very good game and several who could make it very interesting for the crack amateur golfers. SOCIALISTS ARRESTED

They Are Held on a Charge of Inciting to Riot

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Because they carried a large blood-red banner at the head of a parade of 500 Socialists and radicals which was held in protest of the refusal of the Lawrence, Mass., police to allow 100 strikers' children to come to Philadelphia, Herman Morrison of 118 Wolf street and Henry J. Mowson of 2965 Ruth street were arrested on the charge of inciting to riot and were each held in $100 bail by Magistrate MacFarland.

When the Lawrence children failed to arrive on the Boston express, which pulled into the Broad street station early in the evening, the several hundred people waiting at the station formed into line and marched up Broad street, to Arch, down to Thirteenth, North to Cherry, West to Broad and North to Girard avenue. Fresh recruits joined the marchers on their way up Broad street. Everything was orderly until the line passed the First Regiment Armory, and at that point the paraders headed a group of soldiers standing on the steps.

WEAVERS' STRIKE

The Beacon Mill in New Bedford Closed

NEW BEDFORD, Feb. 25.—The weavers to the number of approximately 100 walked out of the Beacon mill in this city this morning and the plant was compelled to shut down. The weavers had demanded a flat increase of ten percent and to this demand the officials of the mill had made a refusal. The Beacon management decided to shut down the plant when the weavers left and the rest of the help are being quickly thrown out of employment, although other departments of the mill struck.

The weavers at the Beacon work on blankets exclusively and the average wage is slightly in excess of $12 per week. The mill of late has been running three nights a week, for three hours and weavers with this overtime have made as high as $15 per week, although the average would be about $16. This is the first labor trouble the Beacon has experienced in several years and the concern has been one of the most successful in the city.

THE MATTHEWS
The members of the Matthew Temperance Institute held an important meeting at the rooms of the Institute in Dutton street yesterday morning. The attendance was very large. Vice President John J. Guthrie presided.

A committee to have charge of the musical comedy to be given by the M. T. I. Bachelor Girls in April was appointed. Rehearsals of the troupe will start next Thursday evening. From then until the time of the show rehearsals will be held on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays.

The chairman of the Easter ball committee read a very interesting report. Arrangements for the affair are progressing rapidly and the members anticipate one of the most successful ever conducted.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the society to visit Women and be the guest of the St. Charles T. A. society of this city, held a meeting previous to the regular session and decided on Tuesday evening, April 16th, as the date for the trip.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES
Tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium there will be two games of basketball.

The meeting of the Get-Together club will be omitted Friday evening but at 8.15 in the hall Dr. Brundage will give a lecture with stereoscopic views. He will take as his subject, "Texas and the Southwest."

The social work committee will have a meeting with supper served by the Women's auxiliary in the board room, Wednesday at 6.30 p.m.

On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock there will be a musicale and tea for ladies and gentlemen, under the auspices of the auxiliary, at the residence of Mrs. A. A. Robinson, 275 Pine street.

SHOOTING IN LAWRENCE

Grand Welcome to Cardinal

IN HIS HOME CITY

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

Cardinal O'Connell Honored by All
Classes---His Notable Address

THE POPULAR OVATION TO CARDINAL O'CONNELL YESTERDAY, NOT ONLY AT THE TWO CHURCHES VISITED BUT ALONG THE STREETS THROUGH WHICH HE PASSED, WAS ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE EVER SEEN HERE. IT WAS A WORTHY TRIBUTE TO A PRINCE OF THE CHURCH AND A SON OF LOWELL WHO BY BRILLIANT TALENTS AND MANY QUALITIES OF GREATNESS AS A DIVINE HAS BROUGHT FAME TO HIS NATIVE CITY.

"Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home."

In the hearts of the people of Lowell, regardless of what their religious tendencies may be, the sentiment of the old, old song was never felt more forcibly than when William Cardinal O'Connell, an honored prince of the Catholic church, standing under the canopy of the throne that befokened His Eminence over all others present, with voice which despite his strong mentality and physique, trembled with emotion, spoke these words to the assembled multitude:

"Whatever of honor or glory or wealth man wins afterwards, he is ever mindful of his first home--the home consecrated eternally by the lullaby of his mother's voice, the gay shouts of careless youth, the happy faces of boyhood friends, now lost to him forever in all but the echo which memory sounds in his ears whenever he revisits the precincts of his birthplace. I stand here a Cardinal, a Prince of a great Empire, but to you, to Lowell and all here, I am and ever shall be a Lowell boy, proud of my birthplace; and may the blessed spirit of industry, of frugality, of happy labor, of cheerful work which were the first and best and most useful lessons I have ever learned here, abide forever within Lowell's gates, to lead on many another of her younger sons to honor and renown."

BURNED TO DEATH

Mother and Two Children Perished

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 26.—A woman named Mesa who had made a heroic effort to save her six children was burned to death along with two of her offspring in Luzerne borough early today when the home was completely destroyed. The husband was absent when the fire started and the mother was alone with the children. She covered the burning frame dwelling four times. On three of the trips she rescued four of the children. One child, a boy of six years, she threw from a second story window and his leg was broken.

The fourth time the mother rushed back into the flames to bring out the two remaining children the floor gave way and the woman and the two children were carried down in the debris. Their charred bodies were found when the fire was extinguished.

Mexican Insurgents Said to Have Landed at Juarez

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The crisis has arrived at Juarez. Officials' reports to the government today say that 700 insurgent troops have landed from a train on the Mexican Central railroad ten miles from that town and that hostilities already have begun between the outposts. During a skirmish last night one man was killed and two wounded.

THE WAR DEPT.

THROWN INTO A STATE OF EXCITEMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The war department was thrown into a state of excitement here today by telegraphic reports of the arrival of a large band of insurgents in the vicinity of Juarez, Mexico, opposite El Paso and of serious fighting in the outskirts of the town. These reports, it was explained at the department, came from army officers and the departmental offices were startled a second time by press despatches from El Paso declaring there had been absolutely no fighting in Juarez or its environs. None of the department officials would comment on the complex situation.

$25,000 DAMAGE

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 26.—Girls and men fairly rained out of the second story of the three story brick building at Nassau and Boyden streets just before noon today when fire broke out on the first floor, cutting off the escape of the operatives of the Consolidated Button Co. on the upper floors. All had to drop from the second story windows. That a number were not seriously hurt was due to the fact that the streets nearby were filled with idle men, who rushed to the scene and broke the fall of those who dropped. Two girls were taken to the hospital suffering with minor hurts.

The loss is estimated at $25,000.

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—Stormy scenes marked the beginning of the seventh working week of the Lawrence textile workers strike today. In an early morning affair preceding an extended demonstration nearly a dozen shots were fired from tenement houses upon a squad of Metropolitan park police and the officers returned the fire. Two strike sympathizers were arrested as a result of the shooting, one of them being taken to the hospital with a bullet wound in his back. More than 20 arrests were made in the early hours of the day for intimidations and disturbances.

DEPUTY CHIEF NORTON

Well Known Fireman Passed Away After Brief Illness

James F. Norton, deputy chief of the Lowell fire department, passed away yesterday afternoon after a brief illness at his home, 12 Ames street. Mr. Norton had a remarkable career as a fireman and worked at about every fire that has occurred in this city during the past half century. He was injured several times while on duty, but his most severe accident took place at the time of the O'Donnell and

THE LATE DEPUTY CHIEF JAMES F. NORTON.

Gillivray fire when he was struck by a portion of a falling wall and his left leg was crushed and he was otherwise hurt. He was confined to St. John's hospital for several months at this time and later was obliged to remain at home for several months more. He had to submit to three operations before he was able to leave his home and at times his life was despaired of. He was usually liked and every man in the fire department regarded him as the "fireman's friend." He was a member of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, Court Middlesex, P. of A., Lowell Veteran Firemen and was treasurer of the firemen's relief fund. He was a devout member of St. Peter's church and had always occupied his pew during the parish mass on Sunday. He was of great assistance to Chief Higgins in the routine work of the department and the two enjoyed each other's confidence as probably no other official and his assistant did. He was born in Roxbury, Jan. 25, 1829. He joined the Lowell fire department as lieutenant in 1855 and was made foreman of Excelsior local engine in 1892. He was transferred to the hose company in 1899 and was made foreman in 1902. In 1908 he was appointed assistant chief and was made deputy chief in 1909.

Mr. Norton is survived by three daughters, Mrs. John W. Skittery of Westboro, Mrs. Peter U. Savage of Lowell and Miss Louise Norton of Roxbury; one son, Dr. George J. Norton of Cambridge; also one brother, Edward H. Norton of Rochester, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Norton of Roxbury.

The death of Deputy Chief Norton will be sorely mourned by his numerous friends. He was of a retiring disposition and in the conduct of affairs of his office he was a strict disciplinarian. Not a man in the department but what had only kind words for "him" Norton. He was a great team man and every spare moment he had was spent in the family residence.

The funeral will take place from his home, 12 Ames street, at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. Eulogies will be made at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock. Lowell Council, K. of C., will hold a special meeting at 8 o'clock tonight to take action on his death.

GAMBLERS WERE FINED

Two Different Parties Were Raided by the Police

Gambling is becoming so prevalent in Lowell and so many complaints have been made relative to young men losing their pay at Saturday night and Sunday sessions that the police have decided to put a stop to the practice. It is a well known fact that there are a number of places where young men and older men congregate and play cards or shoot craps. The stake in some of the games is rather low, but in some it is very high. Inasmuch as the more experienced players have a systematic signal system it is very difficult to catch a person playing the game, but there are many places where the men are lax in their methods and the police have been successful in gathering a number of the violators of the law in the district.

Early Sunday morning the police made two successful raids, one at the Thorndike Social club at 29 Thorndike street, where 15 men were gathered in and another at 23 Decatur avenue, where seven were arrested. Some were charged with gaming and the others with being present at a game on the Lord's day.

As a result of the two raids the police court room was packed almost to suffocation this morning for besides the large number of defendants in attendance there were present many of their friends who were anxious to learn the outcome of the cases before the court proceedings appeared in print. A squad of officers composed of Lieut. Freeman, Sergt. Ryan, Inspectors Fox and Cogger of the liquor squad and Patrolmen Winters and J. H. Clark, visited the quarters of the Thorndike Social club at 29 Thorndike street early Sunday morning. A game of cards was going on at one table while other young men were lounging about the place waiting for the alleged big game which was to have started later on. A glance at the gathering convinced the police that the law was being violated and the following were placed under arrest: Arthur Jacques and Albert Ladue, charged with gaming on the Lord's day; Harry Melanson, Bernard Pottell, John Cranter, Thomas A. McCarthy, Fred Griffin, Edward T. Carville, Edward Powers, Russell Crockett, Eric Boynton, John W. Williams, James F. Cavanaugh, Hugh J. Roark and William Melanson were charged with being present.

When arraigned in police court this morning a general plea of not guilty was made by Daniel J. Donahue, counsel for the defendants.

Giroux, Inspector Frank Fox and Patrolmen Cossette and Bagley, went to 28 Decatur avenue about one o'clock yesterday morning and with the aid of a key entered a cottage and arrested seven men, five of whom were charged with gaming on the Lord's day and the other two with being present at a game. The men gave their names as follows: Peter Watson, Daniel Collins, Wm. Sullivan, Edw. Brown and William Gault who were charged with gaming and those who were charged with being present were James F. Stack and Thomas F. Jones.

In court this morning all entered pleas of guilty and three charged with gaming were each ordered to pay a fine of $10, while those who were present were fined $5 each. The fines in this case were much larger than in the other case because money and dice were found at the Decatur avenue house.

Cass Continued

Fine of $15 Imposed

Hornisda Haisvort was charged with drunkenness and the jury of $1 in money from Philip L'Heronx of Cambridge. According to the testimony of the two men were out sporting Saturday night and yesterday morning when they awoke in a house in Cheever street they were in need of an eye opener and went to a local hotel where they inebriated more freely than usual. Later they returned to the room in Cheever street and while L'Heronx was lying on a bed, Haisvort, it is alleged, stole the money. Haisvort, however, denied that he took the money.

Inspector McLaughry testified to arresting the defendant and although Haisvort said he had but $1.20, the officer found $4.16 which was not accounted for.

The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15.

Obstructing the Street

Matthew F. Shea, a young man, pleaded guilty to obstructing the sidewalk at the corner of Lawrence and Church streets on Saturday night. Patrolman Simon Lane testified that he had ordered Shea and others to move on but Shea refused to do so and he placed him under arrest. Inasmuch as Shea was under arrest, the judge placed him on probation.

Drunken Offenders

John Gill, Joseph Montague, John O'Donnell, Hugh Harold and James Hannon, charged with drunkenness, were each ordered to pay a fine of $5. There was one first offender who was fined $3 and several simple drunks who were released.

GRAND WELCOME

The Proceedings

The world has witnessed the brilliancy, the piety, the charity, the diplomacy, the wonderful scholarship and the many other personal attributes of Cardinal O'Connell, but Lowell alone was privileged to witness the great humble, human side of this great Prince in Israel, who, upon the earliest occasion offered to go away from Boston, across with the sun yesterday morning and proceeded over the road to Lowell, making his first stop, not at the daily decorated parochial residence where within and without loving friends awaited him with acclaim, but at the Catholic cemetery in Gorham street where kneeling, uncovered, in the winter winds, by the grave of his dear mother, his filial love went forth to heaven in a fervent prayer for her eternal happiness. He was again the boy giving back to heaven the supplications learned by him these many years ago from the pious lips of his mother, who had just passed the day at his feet. From the cemetery, he was not yet ready to receive the plaudits of the faithful throng but proceeded down Gorham street to the unpretentious from his limousine at the rectory cheer after cheer rent the air. The crowd drowned out the "Home Sweet Home" of the band but restrained itself, while the children assembled on the court house steps sang their songs of welcome. His Eminence deeply touched at this further expression of welcome turned as he mounted the steps and gave his blessing. When within the house he soon appeared at the window and was accorded another great ovation. With moistened eyes he once more gave his blessing and later appeared at another window and repeated the benediction. So dense was the throng in front of St. Peter's that it was with difficulty that the cars crept through. Supt. Redmond Welch in personal charge of a large corps of officers maintained perfect order then and throughout the day.

In the afternoon when His Eminence proceeded to St. Patrick's church fully 50,000 people lined the sidewalks and cheered him to the echo. Cardinal red was in evidence everywhere, while thousands waved tiny American flags. The approaches to St. Patrick's church were choked with people. The school children of St. Patrick's school and Notre Dame academy, appropriately attired and the Knights of Columbus in displayed a generous array of similar colors. On the avenues through which the cardinal and his party passed, carpet was laid. At the grave beautiful decorations were arranged. The Holy Name society was in charge of President John R. Higgins, the children were directed by the Sisters of St. Mary and general order was under the supervision of Lieut. Martin Connors and Sergt. Hugh Maguire.

Upon the arrival of Cardinal O'Connell His Eminence was met at his automobile by Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., Rev. T. Franklin Wood, M. I., Rev. James T. McDermott, O. M. I., and Dr. James E. O'Connor. The cardinal was attired in his robes of office.

While the procession passed up the avenues all waved their flags. The cardinal in recognition bowed on both sides, saluting the vast assembly.

He was escorted by Very Rev. Fr. Smith as his chaplain, with Mgr. Spillane, Mrs. Wood and McDermott, Mr. Doyle and Dr. O'Connor in the order named. Dr. O'Connor carried the wreath. At the grave the cardinal knelt on the prie dieu, and the other members knelt on either side.

All the others present also knelt and answered the cardinal in the prayers for the repose of the souls of his

the front room he knelt in prayer for a few minutes and then placed a large wreath of laurel. The scene was very striking, and as the cardinal played "Home Sweet Home" tears were seen in the cardinal's eyes. The cardinal returned to his limousine and the procession proceeded to St. Peter's church. All along the line, multitudes assembled and waved small American flags as the cardinal passed.

At St. Peter's Upon the arrival of the procession at St. Peter's church several hundred children of the parish were standing on the court house steps and they sang with deep devotion "Holy God We Praise Thy Name." The children also carried flags and continually waved them. They were trained for this purpose by Prof. F. O. Blunt. The party arrived at St. Peter's at 10:25 o'clock and here again the fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus formed a guard of honor through which the cardinal and his suite passed, during which the band again played. When the cardinal reached the entrance of the parochial residence he turned to the assembled and administered his blessing. He then went into the house and there held a brief reception for the fourth degree Knights of Columbus. There also he met his nephew, Richard O'Connell and wife, together with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horne. Mr. Horne is a warm friend of the cardinal since boyhood.

During the time that the cardinal was in the parochial residence the crowd grew larger and the sight was impressive. The cardinal was so impressed that he appeared in an upper window and bestowed his blessing. Here the children as well as the others assembled repeated their prayers, their flags and giving a cheer. During the interval the band played "Adeste Fideles" and "Holy God."

Entering the Church The door of the parochial residence then opened and the cardinal and his attendants stood for a few minutes. From the door of the parochial residence in the entrance of the church the guard of honor was composed of the members of the fourth degree.

The band then struck up "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the procession to the church started at 11 o'clock. The cardinal was attired in robes of the sacred office and wore a red biretta.

Rev. Dr. Keleher led the procession and immediately following was His Eminence, his train being borne by an altar boy attired in a red cassock and white surplice. Next came Mgr. J. Spillane, D. D. and Mr. William J. Doyle, the cardinal's gentleman of honor. When upon the top step of the church the cardinal turned and bestowed his blessing and then proceeded into the church, where he was met by the officers of the mass, celebrant, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan; deacon, Rev. W. George Mullin and subdeacon, Rev. Bro. James J. McMartin, O. M. I. of the Tewksbury novitiate. The procession was started through the main aisle and the sanctuary choir under the direction of Rev. John Burns sang beautifully "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus," by Terzani.

The church was illuminated with many incandescents, which with the elaborate decorations, presented a sight of rare beauty.

The musical program was particularly well given, the "Jura" being composed by Cardinal O'Connell, being well rendered by Lawrence Delaney. The latter sang with excellent expression and made a deep impression upon the cardinal. The program was published in Saturday's paper.

The solo parts in the church choir were sustained by Miss Gertrude Keleher, soprano, and Mr. James E. Donnelly, baritone. Mrs. J. W. McKenney was the organist and directress. The sanctuary choir of 40 voices was under the direction of Rev. John E. Burns.

The address to His Eminence by Rev. Dr. Keleher, was touching in the cordiality and affectionate terms of its greeting.

Dr. Keleher said: Dr. Keleher's Address: My Lord Cardinal: The months just passed have been notable even in your remarkable career. In the Eternal City you have been crowned with honor and personal affection by Our Holy Father, the Vicar of Christ; you have been received with open arms into the most august and venerable body in the world, the senate of God's church, the College of Cardinals. You have been honored by all the friends of religion.

Since your return home, the clergy and people of your diocese have given memorable proofs of the joy they feel at your elevation.

We may speak only for St. Peter's parish and in the name of your old home parish I bid you a most hearty welcome, and I thank you for the distinction which you confer upon us by your presence today.

Many proofs have been given of your great ability; that you are possessed of the mind to conceive and the will to execute; that you are endowed with great gifts of leadership. But your visit to old St. Peter's gives proof, if proof were needed, that you are also endowed with those tender emotions that do honor to the human heart.

The voices of the past have bid you hither. The hallowed memories of childhood and youth have not been dimmed by the splendid honors that have crowned your career.

The act of filial piety which you have performed this morning at the tomb of her who held towards you the most sacred relations on earth, shows that you, like all great and good men, can never forget the love and reverence due to a good mother. God bless you for this example to our youth. For this, like all your actions and utterances, is an inspiration to them to direct their lives according to high and noble ideals.

When we think of the years that have passed and the years that are to come, many are the thoughts that rush to our lips for utterance. But we know that you will understand them all when we say that we love you; that we love you; that we love you.

In the Eternal City you have been crowned with honor and personal affection by Our Holy Father, the Vicar of Christ; you have been received with open arms into the most august and venerable body in the world, the senate of God's church, the College of Cardinals. You have been honored by all the friends of religion.

Since your return home, the clergy and people of your diocese have given memorable proofs of the joy they feel at your elevation.

We may speak only for St. Peter's parish and in the name of your old home parish I bid you a most hearty welcome, and I thank you for the distinction which you confer upon us by your presence today.

Many proofs have been given of your great ability; that you are possessed of the mind to conceive and the will to execute; that you are endowed with great gifts of leadership. But your visit to old St. Peter's gives proof, if proof were needed, that you are also endowed with those tender emotions that do honor to the human heart.

The voices of the past have bid you hither. The hallowed memories of childhood and youth have not been dimmed by the splendid honors that have crowned your career.

The act of filial piety which you have performed this morning at the tomb of her who held towards you the most sacred relations on earth, shows that you, like all great and good men, can never forget the love and reverence due to a good mother. God bless you for this example to our youth. For this, like all your actions and utterances, is an inspiration to them to direct their lives according to high and noble ideals.

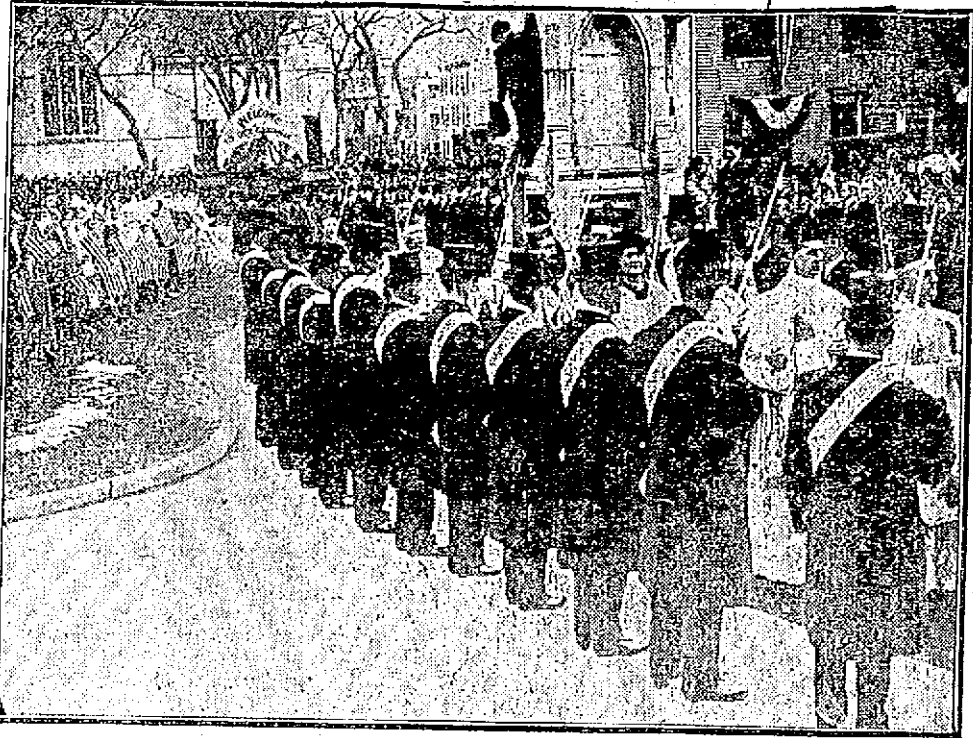

When we think of the years that have passed and the years that are to come, many are the thoughts that rush to our lips for utterance. But we know that you will understand them all when we say that we love you; that we love you; that we love you.

EVER-HEAL

As necessary in the home as a mother Mrs. Mary Mahoney, Foster St., Woburn, Mass., Feb. 2, 1912, writes: "I just want to tell you what a wonderful ointment I have found in Ever-Heal. After trying every salve, liniment and ointment I have heard of, and receiving little benefit, I was discouraged and ready to give up, when a friend advised me to try Ever-Heal. I received instant relief from the first application. It seemed like a godsend to me. I can now do my regular housework, and am free from all my troubles. A trial box for 10c to pay postage, etc., or send us 50c with this ad, and we will send you a regular box of Ever-Heal, together with full size cake of antiseptic healing soap free. A dollar's worth for 50c. Sent in plain packages. Address EVER-HEAL, L.A.B., Woburn, Mass. Save this ad."

cottage wherein he first saw the light of day. He once more gave striking evidence of the beautiful sentiment that welled up in his great heart by placing within the portals of the little cottage a wreath of laurel. From his birthplace His Eminence repaired to St. Peter's rectory, where the opening features of a reception that will never be forgotten by those who participated in it nor by the recipient himself took place.

Much of the reception was a genuine surprise to Cardinal O'Connell particularly at the cemetery, and he was deeply touched by the demonstration there. Arriving unusually early he had expected to walk alone through the avenues of the cemetery to the family lot, offer his tribute of love and depart, regalia lined the church yard and held back hundreds that had gotten beyond the guard of police in the streets. Through excellent work on behalf of a large corps of ushers, headed by John J. Sullivan, assisted by the police, the church was not overcrowded and hundreds were deeply disappointed at their inability to gain entrance.

Crowds equally as large and as enthusiastic greeted His Eminence as he took his departure through the streets of the city and until the city's limits had long been passed he was obliged to continuously acknowledge their salutations. Before leaving Lowell Cardinal O'Connell highly complimented all in charge on the perfect parents and all the faithful departed. The cardinal then arose and placed a large wreath of laurel upon the centre of the grave. Another prayer was then said, after which the cardinal turned and administered his blessing to those assembled.

After this ceremony the cardinal, Mgr. Spillane and Mr. Doyle left in the limousine and proceeded down Gorham street.

At Davis square the cardinal was met by the fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus and the Lowell Military band. The Knights were in charge of Dr. Thomas F. Carroll, as marshal. They were attired in frock coats, wore tall hats, carried swords, with beautiful sashes of white but upon arriving he found thousands awaiting to join with him in prayer, a carpet spread from the street to the grave and the avenues lined by members of the Holy Name society. There at the grave of a noble mother that one indescribable touch of nature made all akin and entwined with the supplications of His Eminence thousands of honest prayers ascended for the faithful departed.

While the early incidents of the cardinal's visit, from their hallowed nature were enacted amid an impressive silence on the part of the crowds assembled once His Eminence arrived at St. Peter's rectory, the pent-up enthusiasm that was infectious and was felt by people of all creeds and classes burst forth and as the cardinal alighted arrangements that had been carried out.

At the Cemetery The first place visited by His Eminence in Lowell was the grave of his parents in St. Patrick's cemetery. The cardinal arrived at the cemetery at 9:45 o'clock in his large limousine. He was accompanied by Right Rev. Mgr. M. J. Spillane, D. D. and Mr. William J. Doyle, the cardinal's gentleman of honor.

Long before the arrival of the distinguished visitor the cemetery was crowded with people. The members of the Sacred Heart Holy Name society formed a guard of honor along the avenues through which the cardinal passed. The children of the school also assembled along the paths of march. The men wore the badges of their society, cardinal badges and carried American flags. In the rear of the guard were members of the parish and many others.

The decorations at the cemetery were elaborate. The gate at the entrance was decked with the cardinal's papal and national colors. The chapel also

LATEST PICTURE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT

Says He Will Accept Presidential Nomination if Tendered

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—"I will accept the nomination for president if it is tendered me and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference," is Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's reply to the letter of seven republican governors, asking him to stand for nomination.

"New York, Feb. 24, 1912. Gentlemen: I deeply appreciate your letter, and I realize to the full the heavy responsibility it puts upon me, expressing as it does the carefully considered convictions of the men elected by popular vote to stand as the head of government in their several states. I absolutely agree with you that this matter is not one to be decided with any reference to the personal preferences or interests of any man, but purely from the standpoint of the interests of the people as a whole. I will accept the nomination for president if it is tendered to me, and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference. One of the chief principles for which I have stood, and for which I now stand, and which I have always advocated and always shall endeavor to reduce to action, is the genuine rule of the people, and therefore I hope that so far as possible the people may be given the chance through direct primaries to express their preference as to who shall be the nominee of the republican presidential convention.

"Very truly yours,
Theodore Roosevelt.

CONFERENCES

WILL TAKE UP GREATER PART OF ROOSEVELT'S TIME

BOSTON, Feb. 15.—Col. Roosevelt dropped literature today and turned to politics. During the first part of his visit to Boston he confined himself to meeting friends, visiting the scenes of his younger days at Harvard and talking of his favorite authors. He was scheduled today for a number of political conferences.

Colonel Roosevelt spent last night with Judge Robert Grant. He said he expected to take luncheon today with Margaret Doland, the author, and Mrs. Roger Wolcott, widow of a governor of Massachusetts. Then he is to go to the home of Grafton Cushing, speaker of the Massachusetts house. With his visit to the speaker, where he is to remain over night, he will plunge into political conferences, which probably will keep him busy much of the time until he leaves Boston. Among those whom he expects to meet are Robert Bass, governor of New Hampshire, and Representative of the militant progressive republican league of Massachusetts. The colonel apparently was reluctant to drop literature, despite the press of politics, for he said he hoped to find time during the day to stroll about among the bookshops of Boston.

WEDS DAUGHTER

Man Was Engaged to Her Mother

HARTFORD, Feb. 26.—When Mrs. Ella Morris, a widow, of 52 Grove street, the former "Baker mansion," returned yesterday afternoon from a week's visit to her son in New Jersey she learned that her 26-year-old daughter, Olive, had got married. When she heard further that her daughter was married to the man she herself expected to marry in the spring, she became hysterical and was taken to the hospital suffering from a gasped arm which she had plunged through a window pane and from acute hysteria.

Mrs. Morris went away early in the week, bidding good-bye to her daughter and to her boarder, Joseph Tremonte, a retired business man, who had promised to marry her daughter. Suspicious, she was astounded to find today that her daughter was honey-mooning. As for Tremonte, he said he was sorry his mother-in-law had cut her arm and was so jealous, but that he and his bride were happy and that was all that was necessary.

STABBING AFFRAY

Three Men Cut Up at Manchester

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 26.—Jacob Supnara of 51 Laurel street, Joseph Stoyak of 100 Concord street and Joseph Shresh of 21 Birch street were severely cut up in a stabbing affray, late Saturday night.

Supnara has his face cut open from his nose downward and a deep cut across his head; Shresh has two cuts across his forehead and Stoyak has a cut in the small of his back from which he lost a great deal of blood.

It is claimed by Supnara and Stoyak that they were stabbed by Shresh and by Wyolc Staniszwski. The latter escaped. The trouble is said to have started in a poolroom on Birch street and continued on the street when Stoyak and Staniszwski are reported to have pulled knives and assaulted the other two men.

Staniszwski was under arrest in this city in November, 1910, for being concerned in a stabbing affray in a Polish dance hall on Northmain street.

BLAZE IN SPORSDOON
An alarm from box 82 at 2:44 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in a storeroom at 104 Howard street. The blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. The property is owned by Joseph Steinberg and occupied by S. Solomon.

ITALY WARNS WORLD

That War Against Turkey Must be Brought to an End

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Although opinion here is almost unanimous that Italy was absolutely within her rights in destroying the two Turkish warships lying in the roadstead of Beirut on Saturday, when 60 people were killed and a large number wounded, the condemnation of such a program by Italy is generally regarded with apprehension as it is thought possible that it may lead to European complications. In some quarters it is believed that the bombardment was really Italy's warning to the world that the war against Turkey should be brought to an end. It is understood that the powers are ready to make a proposition for the settlement of the dispute by which Italy would take only the coasts of Tripoli and Cyrenaica, of the Franco-German accord on the subject of Morocco paving the way for still another step toward the establishment of more friendly relations between France and Germany.

The idea is that President Fallieres should go to Beirut, the French fleet next and that the emperor should cross the frontier and greet the French president.

As this is the last year of President Fallieres term of office the meeting between the head of the French nation and the German emperor would be especially appropriate. The matter, however, is one of the greatest delicacy as the diplomats must reckon with public opinion in France, which has not yet forgotten Alsace-Lorraine.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The regular meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George, was held Friday night in Odd Fellows Temple in Middlesex street. There was a good sized attendance and considerable routine business was transacted. President James W. Gilton occupied the chair. Five applications for membership were received and referred to the investigating committee. It was voted to extend an invitation to the degree staff of Victoria lodge of Waltham to be present at the lodge meeting on March 22, and initiate the candidates. The entertainment committee will also prepare refreshments for that evening. After the business meeting a whist party was held and a goodly number enjoyed themselves. Suitable prizes were given to the winners.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Man Killed Woman and Then Himself

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—In a double shooting in a Seventh avenue building last night, Mrs. Reine Weill, a comely woman of middle age, was killed by a man who afterward killed himself. Mathilde Marpaume, Mrs. Weill's French maid, told the police that her mistress had been in this country about two years and that she had a husband in Paris and was planning to return to him soon. The maid believed that the woman's determination to return to Paris and her husband, prompted the murder and suicide.

The maid did not know the man's name, although she had seen him often when he called on her mistress. He called last night and pleaded with Mrs. Weill to remain in this country.

In the thick of the argument, the maid was sent upstairs on an errand and when she returned she found the pair dead. At a late hour the police had not identified the man.

GRAND WELCOME

We thank God for all the blessings that have come to you; that we pray you may ever have an abundance of divine favor and protection.

The Cardinal's Response

The cardinal responded briefly addressing Rev. Dr. Keleher as follows: Your words have affected me very deeply. I dare not here attempt to give utterance to my sentiments. This day is really a holy day for us. I must reserve my formal address until this afternoon at St. Patrick's church, but I cannot resist the impulse to say something to you, to the good priests and people of St. Peter's on this visit to my native city. This occasion brings up the most sacred memories. Not at this particular altar, but at that of the old St. Peter's church I lived my first prayers, there I received my first communion and there I learned lessons of faith that I can never forget.

While I recall many who have passed away I rejoice to see here the faces of old friends and also the faces of their children. It affects me deeply to see such an outpouring and demonstration in my behalf. I feel proud that I am able to bring honor to my native city. I have gone over the world but never have I found anywhere more loyal friendship or more devoted Catholics than in Lowell and particularly in St. Peter's parish.

I am proud of your devotion and your work for the Catholic faith. I am deeply affected at heart by your loyal demonstration to one of your own and I ask God to pour forth his richest blessings upon you.

The mass concluded at 12:30, and the cardinal and his party marched through the centre aisle to the exterior and then to the rectory of church, where dinner was served.

Procession to St. Patrick's

The plans relative to the escort between the churches were somewhat curtailed on account of the immense crowds. His Eminence and party were taken in four automobiles. In the first were His Eminence and Mayor James E. O'Donnell. In the second were Monsignor M. J. Spillane, rector of Holy Cross cathedral, Boston; Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph. D., and Monsignor William O'Brien. In the third were Mr. W. J. Dooley and Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan, and in the fourth were Rev. John P. Burns, Rev. W. George Mullin.

The crowds along Central and Merrimac streets left only sufficient space for the autos to pass. The steps of city hall and memorial building were packed with people.

At the rooms of the Knights of Columbus, Associate building, the members of the order, wearing cardinal sashes and headed by the Fourth Degree knights and the Lowell Military band, met the party in automobiles. From that point to the rectory of St. Patrick's church in Suffolk street, the demonstration assumed the proportions of a procession. Marching down Suffolk street, the band and church choir played "Onward, Christian Soldiers," in unison.

It was with difficulty that the police made a path in Suffolk street so dense was the crowd. The top of the canal fence was lined with venturesome sightseers while even neighboring house tops were utilized as grand stands.

Immediately upon arrival at St. Patrick's rectory, Cardinal O'Donnell robed for the afternoon reception and then greeted the clergy present. In addition to his strikingly beautiful cardinal gown with flowing train, His Eminence wore on his shoulders a magnificent robe of ermine.

Entering the Church

Shortly after 2 o'clock the band

struck up Gounod's "Marche Pontificale" and the procession emerged from the rectory and proceeded along a carpeted walk over the sidewalk and along the walk in the churchyard. Here the Knights of Columbus lined up on one side, the Fourth Degree members with uplifted swords, while the children of St. Patrick's school and Notre Dame academy in appropriate attire waited the other side shouting their welcome and waving small American flags. The procession was headed by the cross bearer, Edward O'Neil, and the acolytes, Benjamin and James Markey. In order came Rev. John J. McElough, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, and Rev. Timothy Callahan, also of the same church; Rev. John F. Burns of St. Peter's church, and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church; Rev. Fr. Anyot, O. M. I., of Notre Dame de Lourdes church; Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O. M. I., of the Sacred Heart church, and Rev. Owen R. McDonald, O. M. I., of the Immaculate Conception church; Rev. Lawrence Thibeau, O. M. I., pastor of St. Peter's church, and Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. I., St. Andrew's church, North Billerica; Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church, and Rev. Thomas J. Walsh of St. Mary's church, Collinsville; Rev. Joseph A. Curtin of St. Patrick's church; Rev. John A. Degan, pastor of St. Columba's church; Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's church; Rev. J. N. Jacques, pastor of St. Louis church; Rev. Henri Watelle, O. M. I., pastor of St. Jean Baptiste church; Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., chaplain to the cardinal, and Rev. Edmund T. Schofield, pastor of St. John's church, North Chelmsford, and chaplain to Bishop De Silva; Rev. Monsignor O'Brien, P. R., pastor of St. Patrick's church, and Bishop De Silva, pastor of St. Anthony's church; His Eminence, William, Cardinal O'Donnell; train bearers, Dennis Daley and John Burt, Rt. Rev. Monsignor M. J. Spillane of Boston, and Mr. William J. Dooley, the cardinal's gentleman of honor.

Within the Church

The musical program had started half an hour before the arrival of the sacred ministers and was the most impressive heard in St. Patrick's in a long time. It was given under the direction of Michael J. Johnson, who also presided at the organ and by the combined Catholic church choirs of the city.

The musical program was as follows: "Ave Maria," (Fr. Witt), church choir; "Aurora," (William Cardinal O'Donnell), solo by Master Chaudler; "Gloria," (Fr. Witt), church choir; "Gloria," (Gounod), church choir, and "Finale from the Seventh Sonata," (Gullman), organ.

The procession was the "Ecce Sacerdos Magnus," to the musical setting of Fr. I. M. Wilkens. The cardinal occupied his throne on the gospel side of the altar, on his right being Monsignor O'Brien, Monsignor Spillane and Mr. Dooley. On the epistle side of the altar was Bishop de Silva, attended by Rev. Edmund T. Schofield of North Chelmsford, as chaplain.

Monsignor O'Brien's Address

Mr. O'Brien welcomed Cardinal O'Donnell in behalf of the priests and the people. In part he said:—

"May it please Your Eminence: While the concordant chant of love, fealty and devotion is still re-echoing over land and sea in gratitude to the Venerable Father of Christendom for his beneficence toward this great nation, united as it is to all the kingdoms of the earth by ties of kindred and affection, it is singularly appropriate that this, the city of your birth, should rejoice with a special joy and glory with a special story in this distinguished honor which has been com-ferred upon Your Eminence, her greatest, her noblest and worthiest son. "While it may be truthfully affirmed that those men who have contributed in a large measure to the world's progress and enlightenment, especially by fortitude of thought, nobility of action ple of Lowell, not the least among the great religious and industrial centers of the nation, have longed for the opportunity to offer you in person, their heartfelt congratulations and best wishes, and to tell you that in their estimation, the princely dignity to which you have been elevated reflects greater lustre upon the city of your birth than any other honor which could possibly come to it—ones honor, alone excepted.

"It is true that in the fulfillment of your duties as a priest of the archdiocese, as rector of the North American college in Rome, as bishop of Portland, Me., and as archbishop of Boston, we have been deprived of the pleasure and honor and inspiration of your daily presence; but we are consoled by this thought, which we love to publish to the world, that the ties of friendship which you formed here in childhood, in youth and in early manhood, instead of being weakened or severed by absence, grow stronger and more tender with advancing years, and that notwithstanding all the honor which you have so deservedly received in other and more populous centers, Lowell, within whose confines is treasured the dust of your sainted parents, and many others near and dear to you in life, is still the only spot on earth which brings back to your mind the sweetness, the charm and sacred memories of home. "With all of the enthusiasm of our hearts, with the filial love and devotion of obedience children, and without a discordant voice, we, the clergy and people of Lowell, honor and welcome you today as the great leader upon whom God has lavished his choicest gifts of mind and heart. We honor and welcome you as a great prelate, who though comparatively young in years, has already received not only the unstinted approval and praise, but also the highest reward in the gift of Christ's vicar on earth. We honor and welcome you as a prince of the church, upon whose shoulders has fallen world-wide responsibilities.

strange indeed if the city of their birth failed to manifest a noble pride in the achievements of one of her own sons and to exult even as a mother in his greatness. "Your Eminence, ever since your elevation to the cardinalate, the good peo-

"I AM SO NERVOUS"

How many times have you heard that expression from wife, mother or sister. In nine times out of ten, extreme nervousness in woman is caused by an unhealthy condition of the female system.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts promptly and thoroughly in such cases. It strengthens the nerves and muscles, heals inflammation and restores the female system to a normal, healthy condition.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1911 was 15,442

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1912. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

The rule of the legislature barring the introduction of new business after the second Saturday in January operates against the interest of cities that may wish to have necessary legislation introduced. The rule is occasionally suspended in case of urgency, but it would seem that cities should have more time to deliberate upon their needs after starting the new year as they usually do early in January.

THE LAWRENCE POLICE CHANGE

Ex-City Marshal O'Sullivan of Lawrence who has been removed from office had been connected with the police department of that city since 1888. He has a host of friends who regret to see him made the scapegoat of a mismanaged affair. In the first place the city charter makes the mayor of the city commissioner of finance and Commissioner Lynch head of the police department. When the trouble occurred for some reason or other the police department of Lawrence seemed to be a negative quantity. That was not the fault of Marshal O'Sullivan who wanted to take charge of the situation and was apparently refused permission by his superior officers. Meantime assistance was called from other cities and the militia was drafted. The militia is still there and there is yet no proof that the Lawrence police department can cope with the situation. If the ex-city marshal was removed for the good of the service, the improvement that was to follow is slow to appear.

MORE TROUBLE IN LAWRENCE

Rev. Fr. O'Reilly was absent from Lawrence during the more exciting period of the strike, but having recently returned he is taking a hand in the affair. He has already denounced the foreign leaders who have taken possession of the city and caused the greater part of the trouble that ensued. The announcement that a fresh outbreak occurred this morning is indeed sad news. It seems that the anarchists are determined to bring matters to a crisis by violence and even bloodshed. In that case the presence of the militia is a necessity. The last resort of the anarchists is to fire from windows at the police on the street. That is an attack from ambush as it were and must be met with vigorous measures.

Wm. D. Haywood, who has been "leading" the Lawrence strikers, denounces the militia as trained murderers. That statement is only what might be expected from an anarchist. Had Mr. Haywood his way there would be no police and no militia, no wage earners and no employers of labor. The property now in the hands of men who own it would be divided up and men like Mr. Haywood would superintend the distribution.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IMPOSSIBLE

Ex-President Roosevelt has at last removed all doubt as to his position in regard to the presidency, although for some weeks past it was expected that he would make the announcement given out yesterday, to the effect that he will accept the nomination for the presidency if it be tendered him by the convention.

That seals the doom of the republican party in the coming contest. Should Roosevelt be nominated his election would be impossible and should he be defeated that fact would make the election of Taft, or any other candidate, impossible. Therefore, the logical outcome of the situation will be the election of a democratic president next fall.

It matters little now whether Roosevelt or Taft be nominated, the republican party will be so helplessly split by factional strife that a victory at the polls will be an utter impossibility.

It remains now for the democratic party to select a strong candidate for the presidency, a man of high standing as an exponent of democratic principles, a man who possesses the necessary qualities of leadership and the executive ability to discharge the great responsibilities of the office in a manner that will restore confidence, promote prosperity and conserve the best interests of the country at large.

BOOM THE RIVER ROAD

The board of trade will deserve well of the citizens of Lowell if it succeeds in securing from the legislature action favorable to the completion of the state highway between Lowell and Lawrence. A bill is introduced for the appropriation of $200,000, a sum that could be used to great advantage on this particular boulevard. If completed the road will be one of the most picturesque in all New England. It passes down the Merrimack valley, close to the edge of the river and would form the connecting link between the seashore and the White Mountains. The state highway from Newburyport to Lawrence is in fairly good condition, but the road from Lawrence to Lowell for years has been so bad that it has been avoided as dangerous to vehicles of all kinds. The completion of that road would attract travel from all parts of New England on account of the beautiful scenery of the Merrimack valley. It would be wrong, therefore, to regard this petition for an appropriation as a purely local affair. It certainly is nothing of the kind, although the cities of Lowell and Lawrence have suffered great loss and inconvenience from the impassability of the road.

The county commissioners after some rough grading which might be termed exceedingly rough, not to use a swear word, stopped short claiming they had performed their part of the work and that it was up to the state highway commission to complete it. This commission protested strongly that the county had not done its part and refused to complete the road. After a great deal of haggling, public hearings and private protests, the matter goes to the legislature, and it is to be hoped that something will be done either to grant the appropriation asked for or to compel one or both commissions to go ahead and finish the work. Public patience on this question is exhausted.

SEEN AND HEARD

The sunny south may be all right in the winter-time, but how is it the other nine months in the year?

When an ancient maiden finds that she has more affection than three cats she possibly absorbs, she has a choice between a canary and a rubber plant.

Another month, and we can all have a laugh at the man with the fur coat.

Language somehow seems weak and pitiful when you are out walking and find suddenly that you have just lost both your rubbers in the mud.

If a girl has a love story to read and an open fire to sit by and a box of chocolates big enough to last her through the evening, she doesn't care sometimes if the young man doesn't come.

The minister doesn't mind so very much if a man sleeps through the sermon, so long as he wakes up when the contribution box comes around.

If everything that you say over the telephone were recorded, so that you could read it the next day, wouldn't you feel proud?

"In the cities they cry: 'Back to the farm!' In the country the young man continues to turn his back to the farm."

Everybody knows that the man who is always boasting about what a con-damn woman-hater he is is only wishing to keep his courage up.

It is a mistake to think that society women don't have to work. Didn't you ever hear one of them say: "I declare, I am so tired I feel as if I couldn't go another step!"

A word from the wise is not sufficient, as a rule.

A young mother who still considers March waves as the most fashionable way of dressing the hair was at work on the job.

The precocious child was crouched on its father's lap, the big fingers now and then sliding over the smooth and glossy pate which is father's.

"No waves for you father," remarked the little one. "You're all beach."

Representative Sulzer in Washington, counting Russia's silence on the passport question to a mutually silent, uncommunicative man.

"This man," he said, "hated all (all as Russia hates all passport talk. He went into a barber shop to be shaved, and, before seating himself in the chair, he handed the barber a dime."

"O, thank you sir," said the barber. "I don't often get the tip before I begin. That's your sir, very much."

"That isn't a tip," said the silent man sternly. "It's bush money."

SIGNS OF SPRING

The days are growing longer now, increasing at both ends.

And so we all accomplish more? Well—maybe—that depends.

The sun mounts higher in the sky, and quicker melts the snow.

And—most significant of all—The coal is getting low.

"Fresh Maple Sugar" now appears on sundry sidewalk stands.

With the small type required by law upon misleading brands.

No sap has yet begun to run—It's early yet, you know.

But spring is coming, sure, at last—The coal is getting low.

The air is not so bleak and cold, The sky is full of light.

The mud will soon be getting deep, You'll wet your feet, all right.

We're certain now spring will be here, For if there were no other signs—The coal is getting low.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Of the Japanese women J. I. Johnson Abraham says in "The Surgeon's Log": "Her presence sends a ray of sunshine into every street. She is irresistibly attractive to the eye. It is impossible to avoid her. As a rule one doesn't try to, for the Japanese woman is the greatest thing in Japan. She is beautiful, the apotheosis of Japanese civilization. There is nothing in Europe at all like her. It is stated that the girls educated in the missionary schools can be readily distinguished by their awkward gestures and want of gracefulness from those trained under the old regime. If that be so the schools have a lot to answer for. At present the Japanese woman is perfect. It seems an unnecessary risk to try to paint a lily."

Mrs. Henrietta Willard Calvin, dean of domestic science at Purdue university, has been appointed dean of domestic science at the Oregon Agricultural college, succeeding Miss Juliet Grier, who resigned last year. Mrs. Calvin will assume her new duties July 1.

Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery of Louisville, for many years vice-president of the National Suffrage association, and a close friend of Susan B. Anthony, will open a series of meetings for suffrage education in the industrial field to be held in Pittsburgh.

The return of Colonel George F. Goethals to this country to report on the progress of the Panama canal re-constructed Representative Blank, who recently visited Panama with a congressional committee, of an instance of the colonel's humor and refusal to take visiting congressmen too seriously, says the New York Post. Among the men in this particular congressional party was a representative who, despite the fact that he was well advanced in years, insisted on exerting all over the intricate machinery of the canal locks and dam at great personal risk, and much to the anxiety of Colonel Goethals. When he reached the floor of the locks, he ran up a ladder ten or fifteen feet and stood there on one foot, the other sticking out in the air. "Colonel," he called down, "what do you give me for this?" "D. D.," answered the colonel sharply, and the man came down.

Only one of the five panels for the senate chamber which the late Edward A. Atty was to paint as part of his last decoration of the French embassy in Washington was completed, and this is now to be removed and put elsewhere in order to give a free hand to that room to Miss Violet Oakley, who is to complete the work. The contract calls for the completion of the senate chamber by January 1, 1912, and the supreme court room by April 1, 1912. She is to spend about a year in preliminary studies, and will submit sketches for approval before the execution of the paintings begins.

Unexpected treasures of art have come to light in the loan exhibition of the native arts of Boston's foreign population which will continue on three weeks. The genesis of this unusual show was through the Social Workers of Boston in the various settlement houses. They discovered that many of the European and some of the Asiatic people who have come here to live brought with them numerous articles of household use and adornment which were interesting and beautiful, and in some cases of considerable value. In two or three of the settlements here exhibitions of these things were organized, and from the several collections thus brought together the department of Western Art of the Museum of Fine Arts has chosen out those objects best adapted to an art exhibition. The collection is miscellaneous, comprising silverware, jewelry, brass, copper and iron work, carvings in wood and ivory, pottery, textiles, and many other things. The most interesting represented in the loan collection are the Russians and the Syrians. There are also a number of good things from Italy, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Germany, Greece, Ireland, Portugal and Spain. Special features of value are the brass and copper articles from Russia, of which there are conspicuous groups, in two large shelves. Also, an interesting exhibit of silver from Denmark, elaborately embroidered bed-covers from Russia and other countries are among the cherished heirlooms; and there are many handsome and quaint embroidered towels and the Russian peasants. The dress worn by a Syrian bride and a Scottish Highland costume, with other foreign clothing. There are many crocheted socks and stockings, and a few hand-woven rugs. One of the noteworthy pieces of furniture is a richly carved table made in Damascus. It is of walnut wood inlaid with ivory. As of value, it is the brass of an interesting holder that was used by Russian Jews in the Feast of the Lights. Among the things representing Denmark is a copy of a rare old carved chair, the original of which is in the Copenhagen Museum.

A state-wide trolley campaign has been started by the Woman's suffrage associations of Connecticut. Forty-five meetings will be held, and the ground to be covered extends from the New York state line to the Massachusetts line. The list of speakers, secured for these meetings is one of the most notable ever procured by any association. At the last state convention, the Connecticut suffragists raised $1600 for the coming year's work.

The new comic opera, "Daron Treck," which has the attraction of the Opera House Saturday and it scored a great success. The show was given to two large audiences and at both performances it was well received. The play itself is one of the best of its kind that has ever been seen here and the members of the company were all well adapted to their respective parts. The cast of characters was as follows: Daron Treck, of Imperial, by John Slavin; Nikola, the village dancing master, by Captain Franz, an officer of the imperial corps; and Arthur Bull, Alla Wania, a bandit chieftain, by John Slavin.

Marquis d'Auqueterre, French ambassador to the Austrian court, Sydney de Grey, Oscar Metch, Charles von Holstein, Countess von Holstein, Rose Wirtz, Maritza, a peasant maid, Perle Hart, Countess Lydia, lady in waiting to the Empress, and Blanche Duffield, Anna, in love with Captain Franz.

Elia, in love with Josef, Ethel Duffe Houston, Beatrice McKay, Mabel Shore. The music of the piece was of a high order and the costumes and scenery were exquisite.

"THE ROSARY"

Rev. Francis Varelmann, pastor of St. Elizabeth's church in Cincinnati, gave for the first time with witnessing a performance of "The Rosary," the character of a Catholic priest as a winning preacher or the caricature of a bigamous monk. Mr. Rose, the author of "The Rosary," has received hundreds of such compliments from high dignitaries in the Catholic church.

A stage event of genuine consequence is announced for the Opera House on Wednesday, Feb. 25th, in the appearance of Nazimova in "The Marionettes," in which she has just concluded a successful engagement in New York. This foreign born artist has now come to be claimed as an American possession, since it is here that her art has blossomed and been acclaimed, but it is doubtless the foreign touch and temperament that make her a creature of such fascination and unexplainable appeal. She has gained her prominence in this country by her vivid impersonations of women of an unusual mental slant, and has so come to hold the attention of the public mind with the style of play in which comedy is not to be found. It is interesting, indeed, therefore, it should be to find her in a modern comedy of the French school, such as "The Marionettes," which was written by Pierre Wolff, author of "The Secret of Helmholtz." Nazimova's work in this new direction has been hailed as an evidence of amazing versatility.

"LES FRERES KENNETH"

Tomorrow, another night at the Opera House the attraction will be P. Paul Marcel and his company in the "Les Freres Kenneth," which is considered the best dramatic play of the repertoire of the "Comedie Francaise."

Of great dramatic power, of exceptional effects of scenery this work possesses numerous comic passages which leave the spectator with a feeling of well being, of rest and pleasure, which makes of this play one of the most appreciated members of the French literary family.

But above and beyond anything else we have in the "Freres Kenneth" possessing such wonderful dramatic situations that the spectator feels himself carried away into a new realm. This is also due in part to the manner in which this play is interpreted by P. Paul Marcel and his company.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"Ten Dark Rooms" is the title of the headline act at Keith's this week, and it introduces Jack Smith, the noted vaudeville comedian and a clever comedy of musicians and comedians in a novel presentation consisting of two parts. The first giving the instructions to the second presents a southern plantation scene with its musical and romantic features. The act is totally unlike anything that has been presented here this season and has made a big hit wherever it has been given. Estelle Wordette, assisted by Tom Russell, presents a charming comedy act entitled "A Hibernian in the East," dealing with the experiences of a new married couple, the wife of a hibernian man, who is the husband doesn't want the public to know they are newly weds with the result that the bride suspects him of being untrue. How they patch it up furnishes delightful comedy. West, Fields and Carroll, the snappy singers of snappy songs, are a big hit. The Street Trio, direct from Europe, have a number of new comedy songs and stunts. DeWitt Mott and Mary Mayfield, present a delightful rapid fire gag and comedy act entitled "The Manicurist and the Salesman." Huga and Taylor, sing, dance and tumble in graceful manner. Helen Norma is a prima donna and sings the classic compositions in finished manner. The Great Keger has an act all his own. Then there are the pictures.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," the novel feature which is to be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre this week, afternoon and evening, by the famous Brothers Byrne of "Eight Bells," fame, should meet with the approval of young and old. These famous comedians enjoy a country-wide reputation for their ability to produce real new things in vaudeville and their latest version of "A Carriage Ride and Its Mishaps," is said to be their best effort. Children will enjoy it as well as older folk, and adults will not least the performers themselves always enjoy the fun which it provides. The approval of the public which it gives them to go through their various stunts is a most enjoyable feature of the presentation. "The Songster," given by Miss Anna McAlonan, Miss May Monahan, C. W. Hines and others, is another act which is deserving of the many good things that will be said of it during the week's stay. It features all of the latest and best song hits of the season. Jimmy Valentine, that diminutive comedian, in his latest offering, will make himself more popular, locally than ever before. The presentation by our stock company will be one of Francis Sullivan's best dramatic plays, entitled "The House Before Dawn," and should add to the already long list of successes scored by this company. The Merrimack Shadowgraph will be an added feature. On the program of the Merrimack Square Theatre Concert orchestra will be selections from "The Pink Lady." The subscription list is still open to patrons who wish to secure the best seats. Box office telephone 2623.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

The Le Roy Stock company, after a successful opening week presents for the current week beginning with the matinee today, "Sunset Trail," the beautiful drama of the romantic west and a play considerably new to Lowell. It is an offering of particular heart interest and dramatic power with a fine vein of comedy interspersed that lightens its effect. It will be elaborately staged and costumed, produced with special scenery and effects and after careful rehearsing, the Hathaway stock company week before the public on one short week has impressed all who have attended the opening performances just favorably. The company is not as large as some that have been here but the policy of the manager, Mr. LeRoy, an efficient stage director and character actor, is to have a rather small company but a thoroughly adequate cast at all times. Thus it is no exaggeration to state that there is not a weak spot in the cast. Mr. Willard Brooks Price, a native son of Lowell, though away from here for a decade until recently, is a clever comedian whose work is clean cut and artistic throughout. Laura McVickers, the ingenue and leading woman, has an established reputation in the stock world before coming to Lowell. Miss Marie Gower, also stands high in her profession for art and versatility. Mr. Frank Harrington, Mr. Olmsted Green and the other members of the company are all clever actors and the public may be assured of satisfactory performances at the Hathaway Theatre.

NATURALIZATION

The committee in charge of the naturalization movement which was started some time ago held a meeting in the quarters of Club Pense-Temps yesterday afternoon. The meeting was presided over by J. Z. Chouhaid and considerable business was transacted. The guests represented were: Chouhaid, Pense-Temps, Social Club, Pense-Temps, Societe de Centralville, Middlesex Social and Social de South Lowell.

COMMITTEE HELD MEETING AND MADE PLANS

It was suggested that at a later meeting a committee from each club be named in order to work together, dividing the city up into districts and make a canvass of the district assigned to it. Those who spoke yesterday were: George H. Herbert, John Durand, John Truitt, Dr. Deschamps, J. A. St. John, J. Morrisette, Achille St. John, A. Herbert and L. P. Theriot.

Another meeting will be held next Saturday afternoon in the rooms of the Social Club de Pawtucketville in Moody street.

IN THE CHURCHES

MISSIONARY SERVICE AT THE HIGHLAND CONGREGATIONAL

A very interesting-missionary service was given by the Highland Congregational Sunday school yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock. The program was as follows:

Processional, "Uplift the Banner," choir, "Send Out Thy Light," Scripture exercise, pastor and ten adult classes; recitation, "What Would You Do?" Ellen O'Donnell; exercise, "Little Workers," Verna Young, Juanita Johnson, Howard Pratt, Robert Willett; song kindergarten; recitation, "Sad," Dorothy Spooner; recitation, "Mission Ships," Ellen Pratt; exercise, "Five Missionary Workers," Norma May Kenzie, Yolande Dowd, Hazel Secord, Helen Pratt, Winifred Harber; song, primary department; recitation, Dorothy Fuller; "Hills," exercise by superintendent and ten juniors, Emily Frazer, Christine McPherson Elizabeth Clark, Helen Webster, Rupert Rhodes, Fred Willett, Carl Tupper, Martin Butler, Samuel McMaster; recitation, "Children's Day," Marjory Robinson; recitation, "A New Version," Dorothy Whitaker; song, junior department; exercise, "Plea of the Nations," six of Miss Alice Brad's class; dialog, "Come There Was," Virginia Sargent and Russell Squier; song, "A Light in Jesus," Marian Yagerhorst; recitation, "Come Over and Help Us," Ruth McKenzie; exercise, "Four Little Heathen Misses," Lillian Abbott, Hazel Palmer, Marie McPherson Dorris Howard; exercise, "How to Save the World," Arnold Howard, Arthur Planners, John Thompson, Howard Ingham; recitation, "Ours a Penny," Harriet Phil; pastor, missionary story.

The Holy City

A choir of forty voices under the direction of Thomas Wardall sang the cantata, "The Holy City," at the first Baptist church last night. Wilfrid Kershaw presided at the organ. Every seat in the church was taken.

Warthen Street Church

At the Warthen Street Baptist church Sunday morning the pastor, Dr. Frost, began his series of sermons on the Beatitudes. His preaching on the "Poor in Spirit" was so timely that those who were poor in spirit were not those who were poor in spirit and that when Jesus referred to the poor in spirit He meant those who were receptive, open-minded, teachable.

FINE PROGRAM

MID-WINTER PICNIC AT WORTHEN ST. BAPTIST CHURCH

The annual mid-winter picnic of the Warthen Street Baptist Sunday school was held Saturday afternoon and evening in the vestry of the church.

In the afternoon a Victrola concert was in order and a list of sports was held, while at 6 o'clock a basket lunch was spread on long tables and hot coffee was served.

The evening's entertainment consisted of selections by the kitchen orchestra and the humanophone shadow pictures; readings by Miss Alberta McQuesten; song by Harold Cummings and a recitation by Millage Rawnsley. The general committee in charge

EASILY BREAKS A SEVERE COLD

Ends All Grippe Misery in Just a Few Hours

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no medicine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe. It is a positive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the Grip and break the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach, limbs or any part of the body.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dizziness, neuralgia, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Tell this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold and Grip misery as promptly and without any other assistance as Pape's Cold Compound, as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

consisted of Mr. George Allen, Miss Elizabeth Shaddock, Miss Lillie Dunn, Mrs. A. W. McQuesten.

The committee on girls' sports was: Miss Shaddock, Miss Lillie Dunn, Miss Lulu Wood and Miss Gailie Gardner; and the boys' sports were arranged by Walter Carr, Elton Swanson, Harry Steeves, Walter Steeves, Walter Sutherland, Thomas McCabe, Arthur Brock and Paul Jarvis.

Mr. George A. Snow and Thomas McCabe had charge of the printing and selling of the tickets.

Prizes were awarded to the following contestants: Discus throwing, Fred Kittle Lamson; second, Mabel Savage; cracker contest, Mrs. Patton, Kittle Lamson; hobble race, Florence Cary, Helen Baker; peanut race, Gladys Arnold, Florence Cary; dunkey race, Harri Barber; target contest, Mrs. Shaddock, Nettie Lamson; word contest, Mrs. Barker; nearest hunt (primary department), Clifton Stevens, Chester Patton; peanut hunt, (intermediate department), Glendon Arnold, Irma Carr.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

Will Help Municipal Council to Solve Financial Problem

Mayor O'Donnell will attend a special meeting of the directors of the board of trade to be held at the board of trade rooms this evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of listening to and considering the report of a special committee appointed to look into the financial condition of the city. It is understood that the committee has gone into the matter very thoroughly and it is believed that its recommendations will assist the city fathers in their effort to "cope" the appropriations for the year.

That Monthly Statement

Section 35 of the new charter provides for the printing of a monthly statement by the commissioner of finance. The statement has not appeared and several queries have been made concerning it. Mr. Donnelly is the commissioner of finance and he says that the statement has not been gotten out because of the fact that the appropriations have not been made and no accounts have been opened.

The section having to do with the monthly statement reads as follows: "Section 35. The commissioner of finance shall each month have printed in pamphlet form a detailed financial statement of all cash receipts and expenditures of the city during the preceding month, and of all bills and accounts due by the city at the end of the preceding month. In such a statement as to show the monthly revenue and expense of each department, and shall furnish copies thereof to the public library, to the daily newspapers published in said city, and to persons who shall apply therefor at the office of the city clerk. At the end of the month the city shall cause a complete statement of the city and accounts of the city to be made by competent accountants, and shall publish the result of such examination in the manner above provided for the publication of monthly statements. The provisions of this section shall apply to the school department of the city, and the school committee shall furnish the commissioner of finance with such information, facts, figures and data as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section so far as it applies to the school department. Commissioner Donnelly says that in order to get out the monthly report as required by the charter the assistance of an extra clerk in his office will be absolutely necessary. Commissioner Donnelly, in his estimate for the year, asked for $500 for an extra clerk, but the item was cut out on the part of the mayor to provide a clerk from one of his departments. The clerk from the mayor's department, however, has not materialized, and in view of the fact that the report cannot be made until appropriations have been voted and accounts opened, the mayor has still time to supply the clerk.

"It will be impossible to prepare that statement without the assistance of an extra clerk," said Auditor Paige this forenoon. The auditor was discussing the matter with Commissioner Donnelly and the city hall reporter for The Sun.

"Are you behind in your work at the present time?" asked the reporter. "Yes, I am almost three weeks behind," replied Mr. Paige. "The work which I have to do for the appropriations committee has taken up about all of my time and to prepare a monthly statement at this time would be a physical impossibility unless an extra clerk is provided. We are working on our annual report for 1911 and when we have done with that we will endeavor to make the state report for 1910."

Abstract Declines in Central Leather, Federal Mining and American Smelting—Sears Roebuck Made Gain of Over Three Points

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—

Pronounced weakness was shown by the stock market at the opening today. Declines ranged from material fractions to two points with practically no offsetting features. U. S. Steel, U. P. and Reading declined from 1/2 to 1/2 Canadian Pacific 1/2 and Beth Steel 1/2. Prices went lower soon after the opening but partial recoveries followed the opening except in Republic Iron & Steel common and pfd., which the features of great weakness. These shares declined 1/2 and 2/3, respectively. Trading became very dull after the early closing movement, even the professional element holding aloof.

In speculative circles the heaviness of the market was attributed to a variety of causes, chiefly the Roosevelt letter and the increasing seriousness of the English coal strike situation. Reading's decline was attributed by some to a rumor of a possible adverse decision by the United States supreme court. Other factors which militated against bullish operations included the Mexican situation and renewal of rioting in New England mill towns.

Much of the early losses in the standard stocks was recovered before midday but spotted liquidation continued in various industrials. Bonds were steady.

Business was virtually suspended while the traders awaited news from Washington on the supreme court decisions. Tobacco issues broke badly. Lorillard fell 2 1/2, Liggett & Myers five and American Tobacco six points. Speculative interest was on an increasing scale in Pittsburgh, C. & O. St. Louis and its advanced steadily, touching 10 1/2.

Fresh stock came on the market when Reading had recovered to last Saturday's final figures. The general market was not affected and the pressure against Reading stopped.

The market closed steady. The last hour brought no material change in conditions aside from abrupt declines in Central Leather common and pfd. and Federal Mining and Am. Smelting. Sears Roebuck, in contrary movements, gained over three points.

LAWRENCE STRIKE

ing line, being the police and militia, singing the revolutionary song "The Internationale" and creating a general disturbance. They crowded about the railroad station as a demonstration against the action of the police Saturday in preventing the departure of a number of children for Philadelphia. No more children were sent out of town today. Turning back from the depot, the crowd became so noisy that a heavy call was sent for reinforcements to the police on duty. The augmented force of officers and such vocal disturbance in which epithets were hurled into the moving train began to arrest members of the mob. They picked out of the crowd nearly a dozen men who they claim were either disturbers this morning or figured in previous outbreaks. They were bundled into automobiles that were kept running to and fro between the police station and the scenes of the arrests. One or two of the men objected to arrest but in only one case was it necessary for an officer to use his club on the objector's head. Women were forced to leave on frequently at the foot of a nightstick or other club but no woman was arrested in this demonstration which was not ended until the officers had charged the crowd off Essex street and out to the common, half a mile from the railroad station. The mob then was forced to scatter through the common, and quiet once more prevailed.

Town Not Tied Up

Today's demonstration was intended to operate in connection with the call issued Saturday night for a general strike of all workers in Lawrence to protest against the text of the new law. There was no response to the appeal and the mills retained their operating strength. The women and men on picket duty were unusually active prior to the time of opening this morning and between a dozen and fifteen strike pickets were taken into custody for intimidation or violence. Many men were taken into custody for arrest but the police avoided arresting them whenever possible.

Miraculous Escape

That none of the Metropolitan police officers who were stationed at the corner of Common and Newbury street was not shot when fired upon early this morning was considered miraculous. Two volleys of about nine shots were peppered at them from behind windows in early forenoon. None was hit and the officers then returned the fire. When they attempted to arrest two men they were met point blank by three more shots which did not take effect. The two arrests were then made and it was found that Carmelo Meleg, one of the men who was shot in the right shoulder blade, he was taken to the hospital. His condition is not serious. Salvatore Bruno, upon whom a revolver was found, was charged with assault with intent to kill, the most serious charge yet made against anyone connected with the strikers except the murder charges against J. J. Egan, the erstwhile strike leader, and his lieutenant, Giovanni Nutti.

ANOTHER CRUSADE

IS PLANNED BY THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—Enmashed first in Oak street, where four arrests were made, and later in front of police headquarters, where a rescue of prisoners was attempted, a crowd of more than two thousand hissing, howling, missile hurling, texted, waving a battle with police and cavalry late yesterday in which a score or so on both sides were more or less seriously cut and bruised.

This was the most serious disorder of the day, a minor riot on Broadway being quelled by police reserves with the use of clubs and a show of revolvers.

Everywhere the strikers were in evidence. Last night they were on the streets in such numbers that the law-abiding citizens of the city feared to venture on the streets. At the armory, where a meeting was held in readiness for an emergency, was held in the city today and join in a sympathetic strike, was also made.

Eight companies of militia are still bivouacked in the armory.

The strike swung into the seventh day, and an exception to the rule that it has cost not yet $2,000,000, and the end is not yet in sight.

Plan Another Crusade

The Industrial Workers of the World held meetings for practically all of the afternoon among the strikers, at which violent threats upon the police, the city authorities, and the militia were made by the speakers. It was after such meetings, in both instances that disorder occurred.

The leaders said yesterday that another attempt would be made to ship children away by the members of the Leroy Sweetser, Acting Marshal Sullivan, Mayor Scanlon and Director of the Public Safety Lynch, all said last night that if an attempt was made to send the children away, it would mean the repetition of yesterday's action.

Several children are still held at the city almshouse. The weary listless there originally, but nine of them were surrendered to their parents on their promise to keep them at home. In some instances, the police claim, the parents said their children were taken from them under misrepresentation.

This strike leaders deny.

It is also charged that some of the children who were shipped from here in the first place, were not members of striking families, but were brought here from outside and then sent to the city almshouse in New York, simply to make a show. This is borne out by the school records, it is claimed.

DEATHS

BRODSKY—Frank, infant son of Jacob and Annie Brodsky, aged seven months and fifteen days, died today at the home of his parents, 7 Front street.

MAILLOUX—George, infant son of Lorenzo and Lydia Mailloux, aged three months and fifteen days, died today at the home of his parents, Davis street, Dracut.

THE VESPER CLUB

TO HAVE MANDOLIN, GUITAR AND BANJO ORGANIZATION

A mandolin, guitar and banjo club has been organized by the members of the Vesper Country club, and in the organization already are many players who have not played for 15 or 20 years. The club is under the direction of Prof. Hovey and plans are underway for the members to play at the annual dinner of the popular club in the near future.

The list at the present time includes the following: Mandolins—Winthrop, Dabrick, Frank S. Ream, Herbert D. Burroughs, Luther W. Faulkner, Charles C. Reddick, Amos F. Hill, J. A. Himmewell, Walter L. Moore, Edward Morton, Henry H. White, William E. Butler, Arthur D. Driscoll, Donald Whitting, Arthur C. Spalding, Edwin J. Hylar, and William P. Hovey. For guitars there are Messrs. Harry G. Pollard, Rhobald Fletcher, Manfred Gulline, George H. Shaulman, and Percy M. Hovey. For banjos there are Messrs. Frank J. Burke, James H. Leighton, Harry Whiting and Julian Keyes.

REV. FR. O'REILLY

FLAYS LEADERS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORKERS

LAWRENCE, Feb. 26.—Rev. James T. O'Reilly, O. S. A., pastor of St. Mary's church, in his sermon yesterday flayed the local industrial situation and emphatically denounced the part that the strike of the textile operatives, Fr. O'Reilly said the textile operatives demand that labor shall fall down the complete overthrow of present social conditions.

"The question in Lawrence today," he said, "is not whether the operatives shall have more pay or whether the manufacturers shall not yield to their demands. That stage has been passed. It is now a war against society—the abolition of the wage system, the destruction of present social order."

"It is a war against lawfully constituted authority, against religion, against the home, against the people. It is a world-wide war of class against class, the Lawrence trouble is only a flash in the pan. Most of those out of the mill want to go back to work, but they are terrorized by a lawless element and their lives threatened."

"The manufacturers are willing to advance the wages, not perhaps granting all that has been demanded, but a reasonable compromise under the circumstances. The only obstacle blocking the way to a settlement is the presence of a revolutionary organization that has declared a general war on society and decided to make of Lawrence a test case for the whole country."

"Can Lawrence stand it? I will not allow myself to be placed in the position of opposing the demand of labor for an increase in wages, and I trust my people will not allow me to be so misrepresented. I am in favor of higher wages."

"Every priest in Lawrence and every good citizen in Lawrence is on the same side, but this must not be interpreted as a willingness to coincide with or approve of the methods of the demagogues and revolutionists who have come here to exploit our city in a propaganda of their anarchistic principles, to spread the doctrine of the worst form of socialism, to spread class hatred and pauperize our people. It is true that we should cease asking what the soldiers are going to do, and what the police are going to do, and ask ourselves each one himself, what am I going to do? Shall I be an element of strength in favor of law and order in my little sphere in life? Am I as a Catholic to be loyal to the teachings of the church? Shall I be with Christ and His cross or with revolution and chaos?"

LICENSE BOARD

Decides to Increase the License Fees

Beginning May 1, 1912, the liquor license granted to a brewery located within the confines of the city of Lowell will be increased $500 over the present fee; clubs will have to pay $100 more and the fourth class dealers will also have to pay an additional $100. This was the revision of the prices as reached by the members of the license commission this morning. Several sessions have been held by the board but it was not until this morning that the matter was made public. The communication to Commissioner Cummings is as follows: Lawrence Cummings, Esq., Commissioner of Public Property and Licenses, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your communication of February 19, 1912, the commission begs to submit the following:—

The law relative to fees for liquor licenses is contained in chapter 100, section 19, and reads as follows:—

The fees for licenses shall be as follows:—

For a license of the first class not less than one thousand dollars.

For a license of the second or third class, not less than two hundred and fifty dollars.

For a license of the fourth class, not less than one hundred dollars.

For a license of the fifth class, not less than one hundred dollars.

For a license of the sixth and seventh classes, one dollar.

The law previous to May 3, 1910, empowered the commission to license one place for the sale of intoxicating liquors for each one thousand of the population, inasmuch as no provision was made limiting the number of licenses in each license place, the commission as was customary, granted and issued first and fourth class licenses in conjunction. The population of the city entitled it to ninety-four licensed places, which number was granted, and for which one hundred and seventy-three regular licenses were issued. Six special club licenses were also issued.

The so-called bar and bottle bill, approved May 3, 1910, specially provides that "nowhere in the commonwealth shall a fourth of fifth class license be granted to be exercised upon the same premises with a license of any of the first three classes," and then makes an exception in the case of an innholder. The return of the last national census credited Lowell with a population exceeding one hundred six thousand, and at the regular nineteen-ten-nineteen-eleven grant one hundred six licensed places were granted. In conformity with the amendment, a license was issued to each licensed place, and the license fees (regular) and six special licenses, or sixty-seven licenses less than the previous year, making a difference in receipts of approximately thirty-one thousand dollars.

The license commission after careful and conscientious consideration of your communication has decided to increase the fees of the fourth class license, one hundred dollars, the fifth class license, five hundred dollars, and the special class club licenses one hundred dollars.

It is our belief that business conditions are present, and the outlook for the immediate future are such that we would not be justified in increasing the fees of first class innholders and first class common victuallers.

We believe that the license fees should be placed at such a figure that licensees may be encouraged to live without the conditions of the license without resorting to disreputable methods to meet legitimate necessities.

Granting the extra privilege allowed by the bar and bottle bill to an innholder "to sell liquor of any kind not to be drunk upon the premises" to "guests who have resorted to his inn for food or lodging" would increase the revenues of the city, but we do not believe it to be wise to sacrifice the best interests of the community for financial gain.

The license fees for 1910, 1911, and the revised fees follow:—

First class innholder

	1910	1911	1912
First class innholder	$1500	$1500	$1500
First class common victualler	1300	1300	1300
Fourth class dealer	500	1100	1200
Fifth class license	100	1500	2000
Special Class Club	200	200	200

Very respectfully,

John J. Mullane,

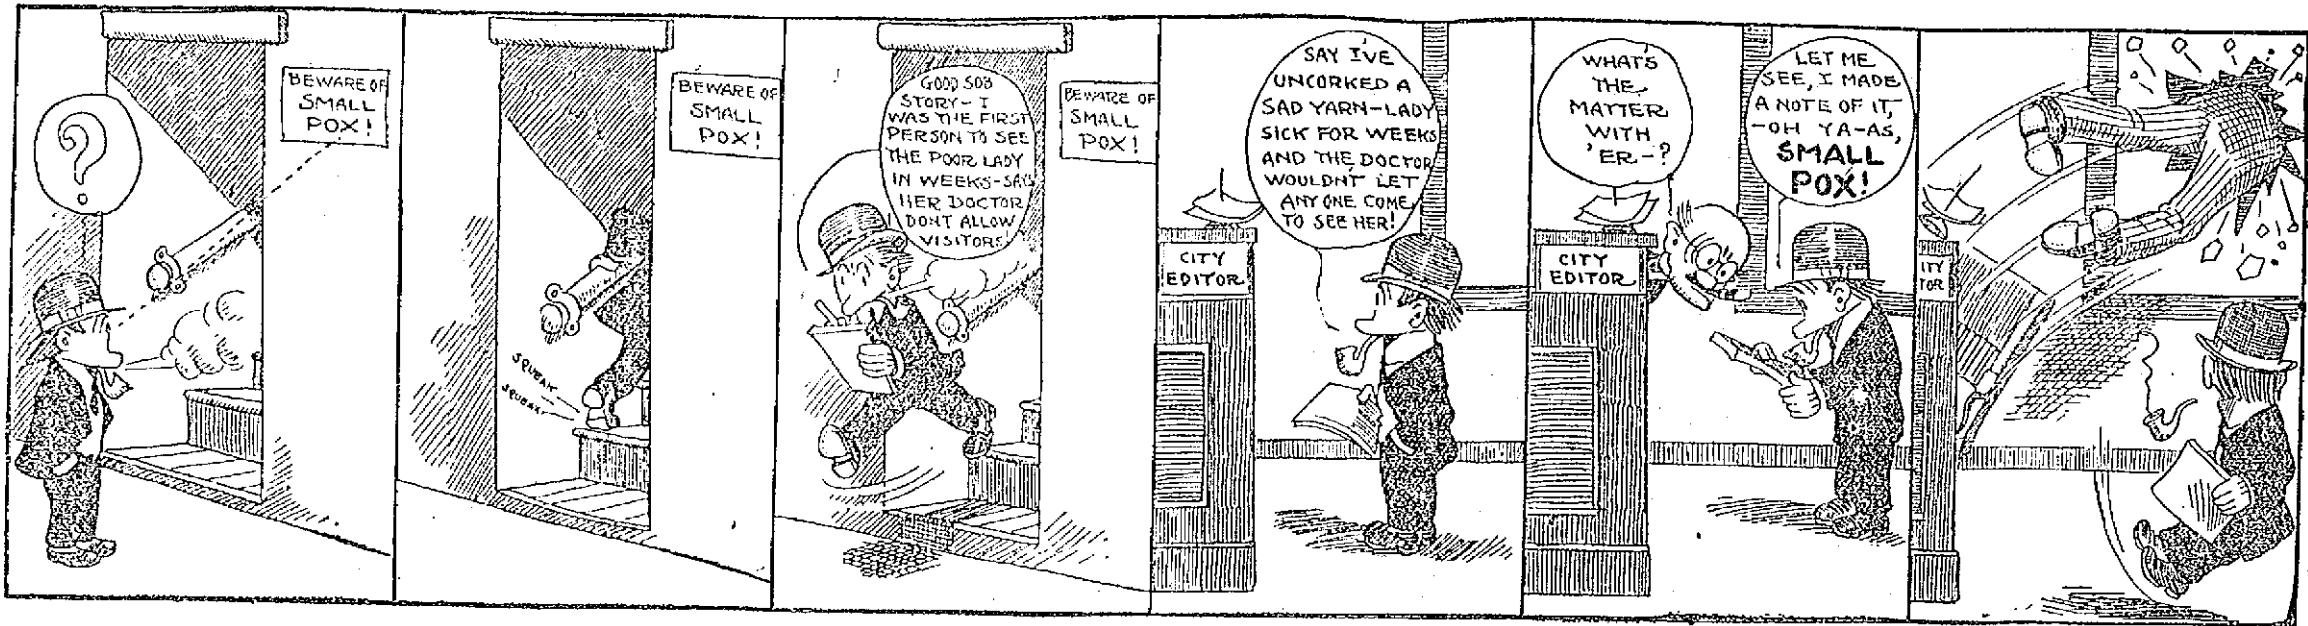

Charles H. Hanson,

Thomas P. Roulger,

"That Your Eminence may be spared to good health for many years to come to do the great work which God has evidently marked out for you, and for the discharge of which he has abundantly equipped you with rare gifts of knowledge, wisdom and fortitude, is the sincere and earnest prayer of both clergy and people of Lowell."

Mayor O'Donnell's Address

Your Eminence, reverend clergy and people of Lowell: It is my proud privilege as mayor of Lowell, on behalf of its citizens, to express in the kindest way, the joy and the pride of the people of Lowell upon this unprecedented occasion, the welcome back to his native city, a Prince of Israel, a member of the sacred college of cardinals, a legislator and director, if you will, of the oldest republic on earth, the Roman Catholic Church.

With all New England we rejoice at the elevation of our beloved Archbishop O'Connell to the cardinalate, and happier still, we also rejoice as no others can, for

JUST TRY A TEN CENT BOX OF CASCARETS

Injures You for Months against a Sick Head-ache, Biliousness, Constipation or a Bad Stomach

Put aside—just once—the Salts, Cathartics, Pills, Castor Oils or purgative waters which merely force a passage through the bowels, but do not thoroughly cleanse, freshen and purify these drainage or alimentary organs, and have no effect whatever upon the liver and stomach.

Keep your inside organs pure and fresh with Cascarets, which thoroughly cleanse the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never grip, sicken and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have headache, biliousness, cost of tongue, indigestion, sour stomach or constipated bowels. Cascarets bring in every household. Children just love to take them.

though far removed from us, in our ordinary life, by the nature of his sacred calling, Cardinal O'Connell is still a son of Lowell. He is one of us, born and nurtured in this city, and all receiving his early religious instructions in the identical church in which many of us received ours, building the foundation of that matchless scholarship that has made him distinguished among the leaders of men, at the very schools at which we acquired our early education; he has gone forth, the son of this humble city, to busy spindles and honest hearts, there, in person, as he always has been, I am sure, in spirit.

Lowell is proud of its Catholic citizenship and the Catholics of Lowell have much of which to be proud. From the celebration of the first mass in Lowell in what was then known as the "Irish Camp" in 1822, the Catholics of this city have grown steadily in numbers and influence until at the present time they attend services in seven churches where English is spoken, five in which the French language is used, while the Catholic Pole, Lithso today our hearts go out in "Thanksgiving to the Most High and our Holy Father, Pope Pius X, for the great honor conferred upon you for the great privilege of beholding a cardinal prince of the church within the confines of the city and within the walls of this sanctuary, but more especially for the honor that comes to Lowell and to all her people, because her cardinal is a native of this city.

The people of this city, and especially of this parish, have a further and special reason to rejoice in your elevation to the cardinalate, for promptly upon your return to your native country, you announced the glad tidings that the beloved pastor of this grand old church of Saint Patrick's had been elevated by the Holy Father to the rank and dignity of a monsignor of the church, the first to be so honored in the history of our city, and this honor so well deserved and so highly appreciated furnishes another reason, if one were necessary, for binding our hearts and hopes in gratitude to you.

But, Your Eminence, there is a huge of sadness, that memory, going back over a third of a century, cannot separate from the pleasure that this occasion gives us all: It is the memory that those who labored long and faithfully to bring about this day are not present in the flesh to enjoy it; that most of the men and women who guarded this sacred edifice in the days of knowledgingism, when the followers of the so-called Angel Gabriel sought to wreck it, are not present with us, both clergymen and laymen, to participate in the joy and glory that has come to the grand old church of Saint Patrick's.

In their day they builded better than they knew. They kept the faith and passed on to their reward, and no one will deny us the belief that their holy spirits from their high places in heaven look down with supreme joy upon this solemn and magnificent occasion.

Your Eminence, it is not necessary that we should here recall the splendid record of your singular and glorious career as rector of the American College at Rome, as bishop of Portland, as papal envoy to Japan, and archbishop of Boston, filling each and every position with marked skill and ability. A record adorned not only with every virtue of strong manhood and priestly character, but with a genius of diplomacy and wise government. It is, indeed, an inspiring career, and one without a parallel in the history of the church in America.

Looking back over the history of the church in New England for the past century, we are confronted with its marvelous advancement and its recognition as a great power for good in society. It has advanced by such leaps and bounds that even in our own Greater Lowell the number of our Catholic churches has increased from one to twenty, and this has been accomplished in the face of many trying obstacles, but to our mind the problems that for the next twenty-five years will present themselves for solution are far more difficult, and must be approached and solved by the church under fearless and clear-sighted leadership, with the hearty and loyal obedience and cooperation of the laymen.

Today we need a great church leader, a great social leader, and a great educational leader, and we have him in Your Eminence.

It is, therefore, with confidence that we look into the future and behold our leader bringing the saving moral and religious principles of the Gospel to the problems to test her wisdom and her administration.

We need the great social leader—to adjust the forces of labor and capital and bring them to mutual understanding and co-operation, because this is the layman's century and religion is not to be confined to the sanctuary. It must make itself felt in the workshop and the factory.

It is not more law that we want, but more religion to humanize and moralize the relations of life. The Gospel of for it is given to our cardinal from his heights of experience and wisdom to see the dangers that lurk for the church in the future, and it is in the unity and obedience of the people to his authority that the church of God can pursue its beneficent course for the protection of homes, for the protection of society, and for the protection of the nation against the dangers which threaten it.

Your Eminence, on this, your initial visit as cardinal to your native city and this grand old church of Saint Patrick's we don't say, "Good Morning, Father," but we say, "Welcome Home." Accept a renewed assurance of our love and devotion; we pray that God may grant you length of days, health and strength to bear the honors of your high position and such further honors and responsibilities as may be placed upon you.

Cardinal O'Connell's Response

Cardinal O'Connell was deeply moved as he arose to respond to the address delivered at St. Patrick's church. His reply was delivered in a full, clear voice that resounded through every part of the church. He said:

The place where for us life, with all its wonderful mysteries, had its beginning, where we first saw the light, remains forever a sacred spot. The sweet memories of childhood cluster around it and cover it with a halo of almost celestial beauty. As life goes on and its varied duties lead us far away from its holy atmosphere, we bear away with us a feeling akin to reverential awe for the shrine of our youth. Whatever of honor or glory or wealth man wins afterwards, he is over mindful of his first home—the home consecrated eternally by the lullaby of his mother's voice, the gay shouts of careless youth, the happy faces of boyhood friends, now lost to him forever in all but the echo which memory sounds in his ears whenever he revisits the precincts of his birthplace.

How well it all comes back to me

FIRST BAD SIGN IS IN THE BACK

Much Kidney and Bladder Trouble Here—Valuable Prescription Given Which Anyone Can Prepare at Small Cost—Relieves Dyspepsia, Rheumatism and Backache.

Take care of stomach distress or backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported here; also bladder trouble and rheumatism. An authority once stated that indigestion, pains in the back, loins, or region of the kidneys is a danger signal. Nature laments out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention. Only reliable treatment should be administered and absolutely no strong alcoholic medicines, which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive, is known and recommended as a powerful remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them: Fluid Extract Juniper Berries, one ounce; Compound Fluid Rheumatism, one ounce; Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, four ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses, before each meal and again at bed time.

This prescription is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys so they will not strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, neutralizing it and should relieve rheumatism, indigestion and backache, and no longer be a cause of irritation, nervousness, sleeplessness and early morning pains, which are the cause of many of our ordinary ailments. This is like this given reality and force, and many people here need

THE QUINTESSENCE OF DELICIOUSNESS

Sounds like something good to eat and it is. Hazelnut Milk Patties, each wrapped in waxed paper and tin-foil and tied with dainty ribbon. Five cents each. Howard, the Druggist, 127 Central street.

Christ is not bankrupt, it still holds the secret and solution of all the questions that interest and trouble man, and the one economy that can bless and ennoble business and industry.

We need the great educational leader—to lift up our people to the brimful measure of equality and enterprise of progress and enlightenment. The days of the beavers of wood and drawers of water for our people are gone forever in this Commonwealth. We have fought our way to splendid victory. The way was hard and rugged and steep, but the stout hearts of our fathers and mothers knew how to suffer and to wait, and the children enjoy the fruits of their heroic sacrifice.

Thanks be to God, we have such a leader in Your Eminence, and our spirits thrill and thrill this day with the vision and promise of the future, and thanks be to God, you have an obedient and loyal priesthood and laity who will respond generously to your command in any movement which makes for the best interests of our church and of our country.

With a priestly leader and a loyal people in splendid Catholic unity, strength and organization, whatever the future may bring there is no place for fear or faint heartedness or alarm.

LOCKHART MILL-END SALE

This Sale Ends Tomorrow Night at 6 O'Clock

MR. LOCKHART has given us instructions to clear out every yard, ounce and scrap of merchandise pertaining to the MILL-END SALE, regardless of cost or any other consideration. This we intend to do TODAY and TOMORROW.

If any of our readers expect to benefit by the final gathering together and bunching of all the remaining lots of "MILL-ENDS," so as to close them all out slick and clean before we close this sale for this season, you'll have to hurry here early today.

Before this sale opened we were actually alarmed at the abundance of the Lockhart shipments. Yes, if the truth were told, there are good reasons for thinking some of the firm would have to admit of feverish dreams on this subject, but Oh, My! the first day of this sale our timid caution all vanished, and its record business has been kept up without a dull day, until in its place has come this confidence: That there is no other sale in all the world that holds any comparison to it.

COME TO THE GRAND FINALE. We Are Going to Wind It Up in a Blaze of Glory Today and Tomorrow
